HISTORIC SIGNING: While Borough Mayor Barbara Sigmund signs the Historic Preservation District Ordinance into law, a group of individuals who were instrumental in the writing of the ordinance look on. They are, seated, preservationist Connie Greiff; standing, l. to r., Don Broderick of the Princeton University Store; planner Duggan Kimball, Charles St. John, chairman of the Joint Historic Sites Commission; architect William Short, and historian Wanda Gunning. Also at the signing were members of Borough Council, including John Huntoon, seated, and Jane Terpstra and Irv Urken, far right.

Traffic Concerns Are Basis For Denying Nursery School

Diane Cronin was in tears, and so were many of the parents in her Sandbox Tech Nursery School when the Planning Board ruled last Thursday against her proposal for converting a residence to school use.

Sandbox Tech has been located in Littlebrook School for four years but had recently lost its lease to a learning disabilities clinic also at Littlebrook. The residence Mrs. Cronin and her husband proposed to purchase is located off Route 206 in a triangle bounded by Mansgrove, Jefferson and Laurel Roads. Neighbors were overwhelmingly opposed to the proposal because of traffic safety concerns.

The Site Plan Review Committee had also recommended it not be approved because there was "no workable safe solution" for the traffic situation and "the site is inappropriate for a nursery school."

Professional Planner Paul Symansky, testifying for Mrs. Cronin, said that there would be "relatively low levels of traffic" generated by the school and "no adverse traffic on the neighboring streets." Lloyd Jacobs, traffic consultant for Mrs. Cronin, said that there had been at most two accidents in a single year since 1982 at the Jefferson Road/Route 206 intersection, an accident rate below the state average. He said the school would generate 60 vehicle trips per day, but those trips would be staggered throughout the day and "would hardly be noticeable."

But Police Sergeant Mario Musso, Township Traffic Safety Officer, countered that "increased usage means increased accidents." His concern was for parents having to turn onto Mansgrove Road from Route 206 to gain access to the school. Those coming from the north and turning left could be hit from behind by southbound speeders; those coming from the south would have difficulty turning right against that southbound stream of traffic at peak hours.

Sgt. Musso was also concerned about parents exiting the school driveway at Jefferson Road, having to turn right as the proposal stipulates and ending up at Route 206. If these parents want to head south they might be tempted to turn left against traffic and at "the peril of their lives," the officer said. The alternative is to return to Mansgrove Road again, circling around the school twice thereby, and get onto Laurel in order to head south.

The officer also spoke about the potential for loaded trucks careening off Jefferson up the embankment and through any fence the school would put up "without any trouble whatsoever."

Borough Approves Solicitation Curfew

An ordinance establishing 9 p.m. during Daylight Saving Time and 8 p.m. the rest of the year as the cut-off hour for door-to-door solicitation in Princeton Borough has been passed by Borough Council.

Richard Baker, 1 Armour Road, the head of a neighborhood watch organization, spoke heatedly against the passage of the ordinance at last week's Council meeting. "This is outrageous," he said. "I have property rights to my borders and I don't want anybody on my property after dark."

Mr. Baker added that he felt the ordinance was an "open sesame" to robbers, and promised personally to distribute "no solicitation" signs to all the houses on the Armour tract.

Wine, Dancing and Gourmet Dining Result In Mutual Benefit for Institute and Friends

It was an extraordinary evening, even for Princeton.

Handing over their cars to be parked by a corps of young men, arriving guests were offered quail eggs from a basket or pale orange caviar heaped on biscuit halves. A tent, seemingly suspended off a second story, was the setting of one bar; the other was in a lower courtyard. Dinner, without doubt the most elegant gourmet meal ever dished up in Princeton to 340 guests at one sitting, was served in the main sunken dining room and two other adjoining areas.

Long-stemmed rose-hued lilies (or were they orchids?) rising from tall clear cylinders gave a pleasant umbrella effect over the diners while not obscuring their view across the candlelit pink-clothed tables. Specially stationed live trees inside, and the great white birches in the surrounding courtyard, lit up and visible through the reflective glass walls, helped to soften the rough concrete texture of the modernistic dining hall.

A dance floor smooth as marble had been placed near one end, and grouped behind it were the seven members of the Louisiana Repertory Jazz Ensemble playing the sweet hot sounds of true New Orleans jazz. Where else but at a Benefit Ball for Visiting Members of the Institute for Advanced Study would you find a jazz band led by a college president?

And where but in Princeton would it seem perfectly logical that this band master, a clarinetist, some say, equal to Benny Goodman, is a historian, a specialist in Russian history, and the author of a forthcoming book on the history of jazz music in Russia? Friends who knew Fred Starr when he was an associate professor in the Princeton University History Department interrupted their dancing to greet him. He is now President of Oberlin College.

It was while he was chancellor of Tulane University (called there by President Sheldon Hackney, former Princeton University Provost and current President of the University of Pennsylvania) in New Orleans that Mr. Starr gathered the septet that specializes in early 20th-century music of fence the school would put up "without any trouble whatsoever."

Neighbors in droves spoke against the application, as they had when the public hearing was opened at a meeting a month earlier. They were concerned about safety not only for the children of the nursery school but also children accustomed to Laurel Road being so untraveled that they play freely in the street.

Planning Board member Barbara Sigmund asked whether the traffic flow could be reversed, with ingress from Jefferson and egress onto Mansgrove, but her colleagues seemed to think that would not help matters substantially.

In making his motion to deny the application, Dean Chace told the assembled school parents, anxiously awaiting the outcome, that he felt badly in doing so. "I can understand where you are coming from," he said. "But I have observed the site, and it simply frightens me. Susan Hillier seconded the motion, saying that "substantial detriment to the public good," a condition for denial of a conditional use, had been substantiated by the testimony.

Mayor Sigmund suggested "If we do not want nursery schools in residential neighborhoods we should remove that as a conditional use. Township Mayor Winthrop S. Pike abstained from voting without explanation, and James Sayen voted against the motion, making the tally seven for denial, one abstention and one against denial.

Application for Cafe. The Macrobiotic Center of Princeton, which seeks to convert a two-family dwelling at 295 Witherspoon Street into a cafe/restaurant and retail store for its products, was asked to provide the Board with more detailed information on times of the restaurant and times of its school. At issue is the waiving of from seven to eight required parking spaces.

The applicant, Ken Williamson, had redesigned the cafe for 16 seats, 12 less than originally contemplated, in order to keep the parking problem to a minimum. The Center will be able to accommodate eight-plus spaces in its back lot.

Joseph Stonaker, representing neighbor John Procaccino, raised a number of questions on the restaurant and retail use in an effort to highlight what he called "the tremendous traffic impact on this particular neighborhood" of the application. Mr. Sayen questioned the conversion from residential use as not being consistent with the attempt to provide low and moderate income housing in the Township, but he was told that the conversion was permitted "as of right."

Robert Sinkler, 307 Witherspoon, objected to the granting of variances to permit the application because of the traffic and additional parking difficulties it would create.

The Board agreed to hear more from the applicant at a meeting in June.

ROUTE ONE TOPIC

Of DVR Planning Board. The Department of Transportation will discuss the Route 1 Corridor Study at the Delaware Valley Regional Planning commission board/executive committee meetings on May 23 in Princeton.

The sessions will be held in the Austin room, Hyatt Regency Princeton, beginning at 11 a.m.

James A. Crawford, NJDOT Assistant Commissioner of Transportation Services, also will discuss the New Jersey Transportation Plan. A bus tour of the Route 1 corridor, which extends from Trenton to New Brunswick, also is scheduled.

The DVRPC was established as a regional planning agency in 1965. The region includes Bucks, Chester, Delaware, Montgomery and Philadelphia Counties in Pennsylvania and Burlington, Camden, Gloucester and Mercer Counties in New Jersey.

Its purpose is to undertake continuing, comprehensive, coordinated planning for the orderly growth and development of the Delaware Valley region and to provide services for governmental bodies and public and business organizations.

$80,000 APPROPRIATED

For Traffic/Zoning Study. Township Committee has given its unanimous approval for an $80,000 study of traffic patterns as they relate to zoning in Princeton Township.

The study will be undertaken by Garmen Associates of Montville, which has already conducted a mini-study of traffic that could be expected along Cherry Valley Road if the surrounding area were to be fully developed as it is zoned. The Township will receive a $15,000 credit against the bigger study for this survey.

According to Township Mayor Winthrop S. Pike, the study will be of value in several ways. It will serve to update the circulation element of the Master Plan; it will provide a basis and justification for changes in present zoning that might be made in light of the inability of the road system to adequately serve the development that would result from full build; and it will assist the Township in assessing developers their pro-rated share of the cost of off-tract improvement that development will generate.

According to the Garmen Associates representative present on the night Township Committee authorized the expenditure, the study will involve the creation of a "simulation model" of input data not just about Princeton Township but also the surrounding area. This would include Route 1 and Montgomery Township development, for instance, as well as what happens at Princeton Borough roadways and intersections.

The Borough has been invited to participate in the study, but so far has declined. The cost would be $120,000 if the Borough were to "sign on," because a lot more analysis would be involved, the representative said. He described the study as "very heavy duty technical," taking 12 months to complete. Committee members from both Montgomery and Princeton Township have said they would exchange information from each other's traffic studies.

In other business, Committee agreed to a request by the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad to spend a portion of an $11,560 surplus that has built up in its paid paramedic fund to pay its emergency medical technicians $5 an hour to stand by at times when the paid daytime crew is off because of vacation, sick leave, personal absence or comp time off. Committeewoman Barbara Cantrill abstained from the otherwise unanimous vote for the request, which was contingent upon the Borough's concurrence.

In the discussion Mrs. Cantrill had asked for information on how Hamilton Township handles its similar situation.

Committee also voted against endorsing a booklet prepared by the Coalition for Nuclear Disarmament that points out the inadequacies of civil defense preparations against a nuclear attack on Princeton. The purpose of the booklet is to inform citizenry of the dangers of nuclear war and mobilize them to action against nuclear weapons build up that could lead to war. Borough Council voted earlier to endorse the booklet.

Mrs. Cantrill was the lone member of Township Committee who endorsed the concept, saying that to do otherwise would give citizens "false assuredness" that they would be protected in case of nuclear attack. Committeeman Thomas Poole said, "We'd be severely criticized as municipal officials if we did not make every effort to prepare" and "come up with positive steps to avert panic" in the event of nuclear attack.

CURB CUTS ASKED

By Alliance for Disabled. Members of the YWCA's Alliance for the Disabled have appealed to Borough Council for curb cuts on Nassau Street to accommodate wheelchairs. The group, many of whom were in attendance at last week's Council meeting, also asked for designated parking in Borough lots, a spot near the handicapped ramp at Borough Hall, and several designated parking places on the west side of Nassau Street.

Borough Engineer Carl Peters and Assistant Engineer Jim Martin have begun working with the Alliance on possible ways of implementing its requests.

Mayor Sigmund suggested that the Borough might be able to add money to its public works budget each year for curb cuts "until we finish the town."

The Alliance wants to make Nassau Street shopping accessible as soon as possible, and has requested the first phase of curb cuts to run on the west side of the street from Palmer Square to Moore Street.

Council moved to ask Mr. Peters to see if additional money could be added to the next scheduled public works street reconstuction project, which is slated to begin in September. This money could then be used to start work on the curb cuts.

Mayor Sigmund explained that curb cuts were not installed on Nassau Street because bicycle riding is forbidden there, and the town had no desire to make it easier for bicycle riders to break the law.

"Because of this bike policy," she said, "we have made it difficult for people in wheelchairs and for those pushing strollers to go downtown."

The Council set June 11 as the date it will hear a report by the Borough Engineer on the possible designation of handicapped parking spaces in the downtown area.

BICYCLIST IS CHARGED

With Drunken Driving. A Princeton Junction bicyclist has been charged with drunken driving by Township police after he ran into a parked car Friday night on Alexander Road.

Glen Charydczak, 22, of 67 Penn Lyle Road, was taken by the Princeton First Aid Squad to Princeton Medical Center where samples of his blood were taken. He was treated for lacerations of the head.

The accident occurred a few minutes before 11 some 200 feet from Faculty Road. Ptl. James Delaney issued the summons for driving while intoxicated. The Township's traffic safety officer, Sgt. Marin Musso, commented that Mr. Charydczak was charged under the motor vehicle code which is applicable to cyclists.

Car Hits Pillar. Earlier the same day, Richard Lewis, 31, of Trenton became a statistic when he fell asleep while driving on Route 206 between Edgerstoune and Quaker Road

Mr. Lewis told police he remembers just waking up before his car struck a brick pillar. Police report his 1975 station wagon was totalled when it ran off the roadway and struck a mailbox and brick pillar next to a driveway at 481 Stockton Road.

Charged with careless driving and being an unlicensed driver, Mr. Lewis was taken to the Medical Center and treated for cuts of the face.

Correction. In describing a two-car accident May 2 on Bayard Lane, TOWN TOPICS reported that one of the drivers, Janice E. Gulyas of Groveville was issued a summons for failing to stop at a stop sign. The summons was issued to the other driver.

TWO DRIVERS CHARGED With DWI. Two drivers were charged last week by Township police for driving while intoxicated.

Alexander Meluskey, 17, 719 The Great Road, was stopped at 1:22 Sunday morning at the intersection of Stuart and Cherry Valley Roads after he was observed driving in an erratic manner by Ptl. Stephan Hogancamp.

Mr. Meluskey was given balance tests at the scene and then taken to police headquarters where he agreed to take a Breathalyzer test. He was later released to his mother.

Robert T. Jones, 31, of Trenton, was stopped at 1:46 Thursday morning by Sgt. Anthony Gaylord, after the officer observed his car run a stop sign at the intersection of Broadmead and Hartley Avenue. He was given the standard coordination tests at the scene and then taken to police headquarters for a breath test.

Township police report that Mr. Jones had just been released from Borough police headquarters where he had been charged for driving while intoxicated earlier the same evening.

After being charged with DWI and failing to observe a stop sign, Mr. Jones was allowed to call a taxi to return to Trenton.

DRIVER'S HEAD TARGET Of Air Rifle Pellet. A Hopewell resident, Kenneth D. Paul Jr. of 122 North Star Avenue, was struck in the head by a rifle pellet while driving Monday afternoon on Rosedale Road near the Johnson estate.

According to police, the victim immediately looked to his left when he was struck on the left side of the head but saw no one. Mr. Paul, 27, and his passenger stopped and searched the area without success.

Police report that a lead pellet of the type fired by an air rifle had to be surgically removed by a doctor from Mr. Paul's head.

Police labeled the incident an aggravated assault.

STORE WINDOW SMASHED

By Belt Buckle. A 5½ by 7½-foot thermopane window at the Somerset Farms Store, 55 State Road, was broken by a belt buckle thrown from a car between 2:30 and 5 Thursday morning.

Police report the buckle was found inside the store. Replacement cost is $350.

In the Borough, two glass pane windows were broken at Richard Court, the new condominium complex on Houghton Road opposite Princeton High School.

The two foyer windows, located between the second and third floors, are believed by police to have been broken by a lacrosse ball. No ball was found, however, and police have received no estimate of the replacement cost.

The windshield of a 1978 Chevrolet was shattered by an unknown object while it was parked during the weekend in a lot at the rear of Edwards Place. The owner of the car is a resident of Edwards Place.

Township police received a late report last week from a Monmouth Junction resident who told them that the entire left side of his 1977 Cadillac had been scratched with a sharp instrument. In addition scratches on a center post behind the driver's door indicated an attempt had been made to enter the door.

Capt. Jack Petrone reported the vandalism occurred last April while the victim's car was parked at his place of business, 601 Ewing Street. Originally, the owner had thought the repair would cost around $75, but when he received a $400 estimate from a body shop, he reported the incident to police.

THEFT REPORT

Jewelry Stolen. Four pieces of jewelry have been stolen from the bedroom of a Hamilton Avenue home which was entered without any signs of forced entry. Police received a report of the theft on Sunday.

Included in the missing items are a gold ring and an opal and emerald ring. Chief Michael Carnevale said that while the police have received no value yet, the loss "could be several thousand or more."

"SOHO TO SERENGETTI," the art tent at the June 15 Safari '85 Fete, will feature these wildlife photographs from the Hopewell Frame Shop. Holding the photos are Chairmen Karen Usas, left, and Diane Forer.

Between 7 Thursday morning and 4:30 that afternoon, someone entered an unlocked Berrien Court apartment and removed $500 from a dresser drawer. Nothing else was taken.

A video cassette recorder valued at $700 is missing from a cabinet at the School for Exceptional Children located in the Unitarian Church on Cherry Hill Road. Police report the building had been entered without force and a lock on the cabinet had been picked. The VCR was discovered missing early Thursday afternoon and had last been used the previous day.

Where There's A Will... Last week, an enterprising thief climbed on the trunk and then the roof of a Toyota while it was parked in an area off Nassau Street near Moore. He then reached through an open sun roof to unlock the car and removed a radar detector valued at $75. Police in investigating found numerous hand and footprints on the car which is owned by a Plainsboro resident.

Can't find a part? Steal it. That direct approach was used by a thief who slit the top of a 1972 MG convertible to steal a portion of the car's dashboard console. Police report the car, owned by a Princeton University student, had been parked for five days at Larry's Sunoco station on Nassau Street. In the window was a For Sale sign.

An AM-FM stereo radio and two speakers were stolen from the car of a Princeton resident while it was parked last week in a rear lot on Nassau Street near Princeton Avenue. A right rear window had been forced open to enter the car.

VAN ARRIVES IN PRINCETON. The new van provided by Mercer County to help transport senior citizens and the elderly was greeted at Spruce Circle by a group of municipal officials, including John Hunloon, Gail Firestone and Barbara Cantrill, as well as by representatives of the senior citizen community.

A witness on a fourth floor of a nearby building saw two white teenage youths enter a car parked last week in a Princeton University lot near Baker Rink. Police said the youths had opened the trunk from a latch inside to steal a golf bag and clubs. The youths fled across a field toward Alexander Street and escaped before police arrived.

The golf bag and new set of clubs valued at $1,000 were discarded within 100 feet of the car. The owner, a resident of Forrestal Village, told police that a small leather purse attached to her golf bag containing $3 in change was missing. Police report no sign of forced entry into the car, although the victim insisted it had been locked.

In other thefts, three lawn chairs worth $45 were stolen last week from an enclosed area in the rear yard of a Bayard Lane home; a parking meter head valued at $100 was unscrewed from its post on lower University Place and $12 in change was stolen from a coin box attached to an ice machine in the Princeton Shopping Center. Police said that a hacksaw had been used to saw through the bolt securing the coin box, which is owned by Teague's Ice Co. of 97 Leigh Avenue.

Still More Bikes Stolen. Rare is the week when no bicycles are reported stolen in Princeton and last week was no exception.

A $300 Raleigh Grand Prix was stolen from the corner of Witherspoon and Spring Streets where its Princeton University student owner had left it unlocked and unattended for ten minutes.

An unlocked bike valued at $109 was taken from the rear yard of its owner on Park Place, and another bike, also unlocked, was taken early last week from the front lawn of a Greenview Avenue home. It is valued at $100.

In the Township, a chrome and black one-speed Schwinn model valued at $250 was stolen from the bike rack at John Witherspoon School

FRIDAY IS THE DAY

For Memorial Day Parade. Princeton's annual parade observing Memorial Day will be held Friday evening. The march will begin at Princeton Avenue at 7 and continue down Nassau Street to the Washington Battle Monument in front of Borough Hall

Father Edward Farrell of St. Paul's Church will give a prayer and there will be brief ceremonies involving American Legion and Borough officials. A band concert will follow

Sunday morning at 9:30, Princeton Post 218 will conduct a wreath-laying ceremony led by Commander Ricardo Skipworth and Adjutant Charles Streater in the Witherspoon Cemetery near the main flag pole.

At 10:15 the same morning, Princeton Post 76's Color Guard and Firing Squad under the command of Capt. Jack Adams will fire three volleys during a Memorial Mass at St. Paul's Church.

Some 1,200 American flags will be placed by members from Posts 218 and 76 at each veteran's grave in St. Paul's, Witherspoon and Dutch Neck cemeteries.

POOL OPENS SATURDAY

At Community Park. The Princeton Community Pool at Community Park will open for the first time this season on Saturday from 11 in the morning until 8 p.m. It will remain open on Sunday and Monday.

The pool complex will open again for the weekends of June 1-2 and 8-9 before opening seven days a week, starting June 10.

Season tickets may be purchased at the pool during the weekend. Princeton residents wishing to buy a season ticket may do so by check only.

The fees for seasonal passes are $90 per family, $40 for adults, $25 for children under 16 and $20 for residents 60 and over.

Daily admission fees for Princeton residents are $3.50 for adults and $1.25 for children. For non-residents, the daily fees are $4.50 for adults and $3.50 for children. Non-residents must be accompanied by a Princeton resident.

HOSPITAL VOLUNTEERS HONORED: Dennis W. Doody, president of Princeton Medical Center, congratulates Joan Schiller, left, and Connie Henderson at the Volunteer Recognition Luncheon held at the Hyatt Regency. The two women have given 5,500 hours each in volunteer time to The Medical Center.

Princeton Cemetery will be held on Sunday, May 26. The group will meet at the Greenview Avenue entrance at 11:30 a.m

Of particular interest is the Presidents' Plot near Wiggins Street. Here are buried most of the deceased presidents of the College of New Jersey, among them Aaron Burr Sr., Jonathan Edwards, John Witherspoon, James McCosh and John Grier Hibben. Aaron Burr Jr., Vice-President of the United States, is also buried here next to his father and grandfather.

Not far off is the grave of President Grover Cleveland, who lived in Princeton from 1897 until his death in 1908. His grave is watched over by the statue of Paul Tulane, benefactor of Tulane University. Elsewhere in the older part of the cemetery are memorials to Canvass White, engineer for the Delaware and Raritan Canal Company; Henry van Dyke, preacher and author; Dean Andrew F. West; the parents of Paul Robeson and the Princeton Flag Man.

For those who wish to see the newer sections, one of the leaders will continue the tour into the easterly area of the cemetery. This will be an informal walk to see the memorial section and other parts of the cemetery which are not readily visible from Wiggins and Witherspoon Streets.

In case of rain, the tour will be held on Sunday, June 9, at the same hour.

VOLUNTEERS CITED

At Medical Center. Three hundred adult volunteers were recently honored by Princeton Medical Center at the sixth annual volunteer recognition luncheon held at the Hyatt Regency, Princeton.

Medical Center President Dennis W. Doody expressed the appreciation of the board of trustees, and the entire Medical Center family, for the dedicated service and strong community spirit of each volunteer. He noted that 1,133 adult, college, and high school volunteers contributed more than 75,000 hours of service in 1984.

Mr. Doody presented service awards to 129 volunteers, marking contributions ranging from 5,500 hours to 100 hours. Mrs. Connie Henderson and Mrs. Joan Schiller shared the top award, each having contributed 5,500 hours since joining the volunteer program in 1975, and 1979 respectively. Mrs. Henderson is a former chairman of the hospital's menu service, and currently donates her time to this assignment as well as to patient care at the Merwick Unit.

Mrs. Schiller is chairman of the Hospital Information Desk, and is also a Blood Bank volunteer and a hospital tour guide.

Other top award recipients include Martha Baer, Nini Dielhenn, Yvonne Reissner, and Florence Seder who received 4,000 hour awards and Brenda Mihan and Jean Smyth, recognized for 3,500 hours of service. Doris Bird received her 3,000 hour award, and Audrey Gates, Irma Mihan, Stephen Steinitz, and Charlotte Watts were each honored for 2,500 hour contributions.

Awards for 2,000 hours were presented to Jim Campbell, Mary Ann Closterman, Lucy Elmer and Adele Nonnast. Six volunteers received the 1,500 hour award, and 15 volunteers were presented with an award for 1,000 hours. Recognition for 500 hours was given to 25 volunteers while 62 received the 100 hour service pin.

In addition to the presentation of service awards, the program included a special tribute to Joan Schiller in recognition of her outstanding commitment to volunteerism at the Medical Center. "So Many Ways to Say I Care ... 1984 in Pictures," dedicated to Joan, was distributed to each volunteer as a remembrance of the day.

MEMBERS NAMED

To Historic District Committee. Seven persons, mostly residents of Princeton Borough, have been selected by Mayor Barbara Sigmund as members of Princeton Borough's new Historic Preservation District Committee.

Appointed to three-year terms were Fred Travisano, architect; Wanda Gunning, historic district resident and historian; and Alvin Felzenberg, a member of the Joint Historic Sites Commission.

Robert Von Zumbusch, chairman, Princeton Joint Environmental Design Review Committee, and Claudia La Placa of Nassau Interiors were appointed to two-year terms.

Appointed to one-year terms were Alma Field, a member of the Regional Planning Board, and Charles St. John, chairman of the Joint Historic Sites Commission.

Jeffrey Clark of Holt & Morgan and Cassie Richardson, a member of the Joint Historic Sites Commission, were named alternates. Constance Greiff was appointed a consultant to the committee.

The appointments will require the approval of Borough

Council, which is expected to vote on them shortly.

The names of committee members were announced at the official signing of the ordinance, which took place on the second floor of Lower Pyne at Nassau and Witherspoon. This building, recently purchased from Princeton University, may be the first to undergo review by the new Historic District Committee, said Mayor Sigmund.

The seven-member committee will review changes to building exteriors located in the three new historic districts of Princeton Borough: Mercer Hill, the Central Business District, and Jugtown.

Before the ceremony — which was attended by several dozen persons who had been involved with the drafting of the ordinance as well as by most members of Borough Council — Council President Richard Woodbridge said that the Historic District Ordinance was "the crowning glory of Mayor Sigmund's first term, so far."

TO HELP FAMINE VICTIMS: Amy Kershaw, president of the Princeton High School Interact Club, presents a $400 check to James T. Richmond, chairman of the African Famine Relief Campaign. The Interact Club, the high school age branch of the Princeton Rotary Club, collected the money through local fund raising by its members. The African Famine Relief Campaign is a special project of the American Red Cross.

SUSPECT IS CHARGED

In Two Lewdness Incidents. A 25-year-old Burlington resident has been charged with two counts of open lewdness by Township police, following his arrest early last week in his car parked in a lot off Faculty Road near Jadwin Gym.

Police said that Daniel Milke admitted that he had exposed himself earlier in the month to two women as they walked along paths on the university campus off Faculty Road.

In what Capt. Jack Petrone described as good police work by Ptl. John Clausen and Ptl. Robert Buchanan, the two officers first observed Milke sitting in his car. They stopped and questioned him because his physical appearance and clothing was almost identical, Capt. Petrone said, to the description supplied by the victims.

The officers charged Milke with possession of a dangerous weapon when they found a pair of nun-chucks in his car and they further advised him he was being charged with two counts of open lewdness.

Later, when he was confronted by police after the two victims had identified him from a photo lineup, Milke, Capt. Petrone said, admitted he was the suspect.

After a preliminary hearing before Township Judge Sydney Souter, in which Judge Souter accepted his two guilty pleas, Milke was held over for Grand Jury action on the weapons charge.

Shoplifter Charged. Cecil Thomas, 59, of Trenton, has been charged by Borough police with shoplifting a box of Comtrex, a multi-symptom cold remedy, from the Wawa Store on Nassau Street. He is scheduled to appear in Borough court June 5.

Police report one of the clerks had observed Thomas acting in a suspicious manner near the drug shelf and when he came to the checkout counter he had a bulge in his right pocket.

When the clerk asked him what he had, Thomas took the box of Comtrex, valued at $4.69 from his pocket and said, "You got me."

Thomas fled from the store when the clerk told him he was going to call the police. A short time after his description was broadcast over the police radio, Princeton University security informed police that they knew a person fitting the description who worked at Palmer Lab.

Police went to the lab where, Thomas was identified as the shoplifter, arrested and charged.

GIFT FROM DRAVO

To University. The Dravo Corporation of Pittsburgh has given Princeton University $100,000 to endow a scholarship honoring Robert Dickey III, its former chairman and chief executive officer.

Mr. Dickey, who retired as the head of Dravo in April, 1983, continues to serve on its board of directors. A 1939 graduate of Princeton in mechanical engineering, he is active in university affairs as a member of Princeton's Corporate Gifts Committee.

Dravo is a diversified firm with national and international interests in engineering, construction, natural resources, and materials handling systems. In accordance with the company's wishes, the Dickey Scholarship will be assigned to first-year students in engineering.

The gift will be credited to A Campaign for Princeton, the university's effort to raise $330 million over five years. To date the campaign has raised $271 million, including $33 million from corporations.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The Borough Council (with the exception of Richard Woodbridge) has voted to allow door-to-door solicitation (or canvassing, which is much the same) until 9 p.m. Daylight Saving Time or 8 p.m. Standard Time.

This is a change from the former policy of 5 p.m. and was made on the advice of counsel because of a threatened law suit by an organization called New Jersey Citizen Action. Apparently the so-called "rights" of these strangers are presumed to be greater than the rights to privacy, security and non-disturbance of Princeton Borough property owners

It should be noted that the attorney for the above organization has said that if they were dissatisfied with conditions in the Borough they may renew their suit. Having won their demands so easily the first time, one wonders what they may want in the future.

Since my protest to the Council had no effect, it appears that for those of us who do not want our doorbells rung until such a late hour the only option is to place signs on our doors saying "No Soliciting." Such signs are presently available at a stationers for a moderate price. I dislike this rather unfriendly action, so different from Princeton in other days, but I am determined to preserve my rights on my own property against an undesired situation.

My concern for security is certainly justified by the weekly listings of thefts and burglaries in our town, of which I have been a major victim myself.

I would be pleased to discuss this with anyone who has questions, and urge serious attention to the problem.

RICHARD W. BAKER, JR.
1 Armour Road

Ride-Sharing Suggested.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

Below is a letter the Princeton Environmental Commission has sent to the Mayor and Council of Lawrence Township and Lawrence Township Planning Board.

We are concerned that Educational Testing Service has appeared before the Lawrence Township Planning board and begun the process of obtaining preliminary approval for the construction of an additional 400,000 square feet of office space to be completed within the next six years

In particular, the proposed construction will result in an estimated 1,900 additional employees who will have to commute to ETS.

Assuming the usual average of 1.1 persons per car for those who commute, we can expect approximately 1730 additional automobiles traveling to and from ETS during each rush hour. That is a total of almost 3,500 automobile trips being generated each workday.

ETS is only accessible by three possible routes: Carter Road coming from the north (Hopewell and Pennington), Carter Road coming from the south, and Rosedale Road leading into Princeton or to Province Line Road.

We contend that Rosedale Road and Carter Road heading south are already at or approaching capacity for handling traffic during peak travel periods. One has only to visit the intersections of either Route 206 and Carter Road or Route 206 and Elm Road in Princeton to see that long lines of traffic develop each day. ANY additional traffic at peak travel times will without a doubt greatly increase the congestion on these roads.

We are concerned that the approaches taken to handle the additional traffic from ETS may have negative environmental consequences. In particular, we do not wish to have the traffic problem dealt with by widening the affected area roads.

Traffic Through Princeton. We also note that the preliminary traffic studies done by ETS for its presentation to the Planning Board do not attempt to look at traffic patterns outside of Lawrence Township. Yet a substantial portion of the ETS traffic does run through the Princetnns and does create significant problems here.

We are aware that ETS proposed to implement and expand ride-sharing programs for its workforce and also to stagger the work hours. While these are fine methods of helping to deal with the traffic problem, we are not convinced that they will have much effect when the numbers involved are so large. Furthermore, we wonder why work hours are not already staggered to a greater extent since the existing traffic flow during rush hours has already reached a critical level.

In conclusion, we strongly suggest that the appropriate governing bodies adopt the following policies:

1. No environmentally harmful widening of area roads should be done as an accommodation for further development at ETS.

2. Approval of any new development at ETS should be contingent upon an employment pattern which produces no net gain in traffic flow per hour from ETS during peak travel times. This implies a much greater emphasis on ride-sharing and staggered work hours than is presently contemplated.

We hope that our neighboring municipality will understand our desire to make these suggestions since the size and scale of the proposed development will have a significant impact on the greater region of which we are all a part.

Assembly Energy and Natural Resources Committee.

I wish to express to your committee my concern over the recent actions, undertaken by contract to the New Jersey State Water Authority, which have had a dramatic impact on the Delaware and Raritan Canal State Park.

The canal, particularly the stretch along Lake Carnegie, is not a narrow strip of land to be improved by the removal of all that grew on its surface. Due to its size and configuration it is a unique environment, the only one of its kind in New Jersey.

It represents a double transition community of plants and animals; from water to dry land, and from field to woodland. Such ecozones are the most biologically diverse to be found in the state. The openness to sunlight from both sides encourages a great undergrowth of wildflowers and berries.

Water courses separated the shelter this growth provided from the normal predators found in the area. Lake Carnegie is on the eastern flyway for migratory birds which made great use of this protection.

Indigenous growth on the towpath stabilized the banks, preventing erosion. Overstory trees shaded the canal which helped to limit the amount of vegetative growth in its course, aiding the flow of water.

These resources were amazingly diverse and offered much to the many different types of people who frequented the area. Birds to delight the ornithologist, solitude for thinkers, paths for runners, shaded walkways for families and their children, great beauty for photographers could all be found there.

To lose all this in an area already short of public spaces, and the lack of sensitivity or responsibility to the wildlife challenges a reasonable person's ability to understand, why? The environmental impact statements filed as part of the project's plan specifically state, "Development should respect and enhance the existing environment" and ... "the Canal is not only a water supply transmission facility.

"It is a vital part of the Canal Park, which provides numerous recreational benefits to the people of New Jersey and is listed in the National and State Registers of Historic Places. The State of New Jersey, through the various agencies having jurisdiction over the Canal have been presented with an opportunity to work in conjunction with the SWSA to not only restore the water-carrying capacity of the Canal, but also to restore its recreational and historic value." These goals sound so ironic in light of the actions undertaken in seeming disregard of the expressed objectives for the canal.

As a resident of Kingston and a person who has grown to know the Canal intimately for many years, I hope that all actions undertaken for the development of the transmission complex in the future will have a greater regard for the potential offered for meeting the diverse but coinciding needs of the people in the area. Careful development and maintenance of the Delaware and Raritan Canal State Park including its vegetation and physical characteristics can improve the flow of water through the canal, not impede it, and concomitantly provide for a marvelous environment.

The Delaware and Raritan Canal State Park was created to preserve and manage its many resources. This purpose is not fulfilled by allowing a single purpose state agency to usurp the responsibility placed upon the Department of Environmental Protection by the legislature and the people of New Jersey.

Lighting Alternative.
to the Editor of Town Topics:

As a quondam teacher-coach who brought 9-12 ages baseball to Princeton, directed it 10 years for the YMCA, directed the Playground 13-15 boys' baseball 10 years, for five years organized the "town team" and its league for young adults — I back youth, sports, athletics.

But, "Gimme a Light" not only evokes odd reactions on TV — introducing night-lighted sports and circuses in a long-established residential area would open a Pandora's Box — really, a "Pox" of traffic, noise, and disruption.

Outdoor lighted events for ages 14-17 could be one thing — but how bar out-of-towners; how handle them? Worse — if the 14's of a family can go, how bar 12's, 10's and younger from a-hootin' and a-hollerin' all around the area? Ask mothers. Ask pediatricians. Children are the majors; saving energy, costs of police, workers are the minors.

And might not half the projected costs instead feed the starving?

University fields and lights might work, especially if limited — they could mitigate but not eliminate above-named problems. Weather limits the plan.

Right now the lights cast a dark shadow over a divided community. Hence, the backers of the Lights plan, whose youth-support is only to be commended, and the Board, might consider a third approach, a "Princeton Plan," no less.

Could not the high school be open every Friday evening, at the least every other one, under planned supervision? One night a month stage an informal dance. Stage Game Nights: "parlor games," board games, charades and group participation events. Sports nights: mixed volley ball, mixed basketball, gym events, running, games, stunts — participation. All open to all, or by classes or by nights or by sections of the building.

In Dr. Houston, John Sakala, Miss Burke, Norman Van Arsdalen, Princeton has as fine a foursome as any secondary or prep school Given a budget — no way they, teachers, or qualified non-teachers can be "sentenced" to free night work — that awesome foursome could plan, project, direct, supervise. A "Princeton Plan" for Princeton youth has great possibilities.

More than 120 colleges, vocational schools and military representatives will be present. High school students are invited to attend. Students will have the opportunity to speak to representatives, and high school guidance counselors will also be available for additional assistance.

FUNDS ARE SOUGHT

By Planned Parenthood. At a meeting of the Special Gifts Advisory Committee of the Planned Parenthood Association of the Mercer Area, final results of last year's drive and the goals and needs for those of the coming year were presented.

Sandra Ewell, president, and Leslie Potter, executive director, spoke of various projects still to be expanded and reinforced to further meet the needs of Mercer County. It is estimated that only 28 percent of the women who could use the agencies' services are being seen at present. With the cutback in funds for social services from the Federal and State governments, the pressures are ever greater for health agencies such as Planned Parenthood to seek a wider base of support to help maintain its six clinics.

ART FROM PRIVATE COLLECTIONS will be gathered for a special art show at the Squibb art gallery to benefit the Planned Parenthood Association of the Princeton Area. The date is Friday, October 4. Sara Gillespie, left, and Evelyn Geddes, center, are co-chairing the fundraiser, while Sally Easter is chair of a special gifts advisory committee.

There were 12,000 visits this past year to area clinics which provided pregnancy tests, cancer screening, contraception, routine gynecological care, diagnosis, treatment and follow-up. Planned Parenthood has an extensive prenatal care program which has achieved 125 healthy births from 147 low-income, high-risk women. Prenatal care and high infant mortality rates in the U.S. is of continuing concern and in Mercer County the teenage pregnancy rate is above the State average.

Teenagers are the group in which the most at-risk births occur. Planned Parenthood seeks ways to expand its teenage outreach programs with counseling, peer group meetings, and other methods.

Sara Gillespie and Mrs. Robert Geddes will co-chair an art show to be held at the Squibb Gallery on Friday evening, October 4, as a benefit for PPAMA. The show will consist of works from private collections, many never on display before.

Other members of the Special Advisory Committee who will be working on the drive during the summer months are Mrs. George Easter, Mrs. Herbert Abelson, Mrs. Elmer Alpert, Mrs. Charles Biddle, Mrs. Randall Carleton, Mrs. Kenneth Case, Mrs. Richard Fleming, Mrs. David Frothingham, Mrs. Roger Kirkpatrick, Kathryn Kuhn, Mrs. Leighton Laughlin, Jr., Mrs. Philip Reed Sr., Mrs. Brian Sullivan, Tania Tassie, Mrs. Dorothy Thomas, Mrs. Lindley Tiers and Nancy Browder.

WORKSHOP OFFERED

In Stopping Smoking. Princeton Medical Center's Department of Community Health Services will present a Smoke No More program Thursday evening, May 23.

The program will deal with motivation, relaxation, behavior modification and the health benefits to be derived from not smoking. The instructor is Mary Jo Foster, R.N.

CLUBS DISCRIMINATE

Says Civil Rights Division.

Sally Frank, a 1980 graduate of Princeton University, won an important round in her battle to end discrimination against women by Princeton University's three all-male eating clubs.

In a decision handed down late last week by the New Jersey Division on Civil Rights, the clubs were found to be a "public accommodation" and thus under the jurisdiction of the civil rights agency.

The Division based its ruling — which reversed its 1982 decision that the clubs are private entities and therefore out of the agency's jurisdiction — on the connections between the clubs and the University, which is a public institution.

New Jersey's 40-year-old Law Against Discrimination guarantees to all persons the opportunity to obtain all the accommodations, advantages, facilities and privileges of any place of public accommodation without discrimination.

Ms. Frank originally brought charges against the three all-male eating clubs — Cottage, Ivy and Tiger Inn — in 1978, after she was denied membership.

The ruling of the State's Civil Rights Division, according to James Sincaglia, its deputy director, would almost undoubtedly be upheld if the case went to an actual court. The laws of the state, he declared, dictate that the eating clubs must go co-ed.

University Counsel Thomas Wright said that, in the aftermath of the state's decision, the continued existence of the all-male eating clubs is left in doubt depending on further legal action.

The next step in the prolonged legal battle, according to Mr. Wright, is for the New Jersey Division on Civil Rights to attempt to reach a conciliation between the clubs and Frank.

However, both the university counsel and Ms. Frank believe such efforts would prove futile.

A compromise is not possible, said Ms. Frank, who added that she will not settle for anything short of the clubs going co-ed.

The clubs have not announced whether they will appeal. If they do, the case would then go to the appellate division of the New Jersey Superior Court. The battle in the courts could then, conceivably, go on for many more years.

TORCH RUN SET

For Special Olympics. The 1985 New Jersey Policemen's Benevolent Association Torch Run to benefit the N.J. Special Olympics will be held on June 7. Police runners across the state will carry the Olympic Torch into the William Paterson College Stadium in Wayne to light the Flame of Hope, officially opening the State Summer Games.

Each runner is seeking a minimum of $50 in pledges to carry the torch along the route. All contributions (tax deductible) wil help the N.J. Special Olympics, a voluntary, nonprofit organization that provides training and athletic competition for mentally retarded children and adults.

Those wishing to pledge any amount are requested to mail donations to PBA Local 130, P.O. Box 568, Princeton, N.J. 08540, Attn: Ptl. Lenhardt.

Members of Princeton Borough and Township and Montgomery Township — all PBA Local 130 members — will run with the torch from Province Line Road and Route 206 into town on Nassau Street and north to the Kingston Bridge. The torch will be relayed from the Governor's office in Trenton and arrive in Princeton approximately at 7:30 a.m.

Library Closed

Princeton Public Library will be closed all day Monday, May 27, in recognition of Memorial Day. Books, records and other materials may be deposited in the book drops by the main entrance whenever the Library is closed.

Regular hours of the Library are Monday through Thursday, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., and Friday and Saturday, 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

CHILDBIRTH CLASSES

Madame Margherita Condell Feted by Stuart In Honor of her 84th Birthday and Retirement

On the eve of her 84th birthday, and to mark her retirement from Stuart Country Day School after 20 years, Margherita Condell was feted at a reception last Saturday.

Past and present parents, students of all ages, alumnae, past and present teachers — some 450 of her best friends — gathered on a bright sunny afternoon to honor the petite lady who seems to many to embody not only the essence of the school but the Christian spirit of being considerate and attentive to other people's wants and needs

BELOVED AT STUART: Seated at her special place before the Mater Window at Stuart Country Day School of the Sacred Heart, Mme. Margherita Condell accepts flowers and cards from well-wishers who attended a retirement/birthday party in her honor last Sunday. After 20 years at Stuart, Madame says she is being "promoted" and will live at the Sacred Heart community at Kenwood, in Albany, N.Y.

Drawn at various points in her life in this country and abroad to the ideals and practices of the Sacred Heart religious order, Mme Condell is one of the very few lay people to live within that religious community as a full member She began her life at Stuart School teaching French and "Politeness Class" in the pre-Vatican II days when she was not permitted to take meals or mix with the Sisters.

After problems with her vision made correcting papers difficult, she became the receptionist at Stuart, answering the telephone in the front hall "Portry." There she was the first contact with the school for countless visitors and bewildered new students, a bastion of support for the novice teacher, a voice of quiet calm and cheerfulness for anxious mothers. From her desk she tracked down missing homework and misplaced sweaters, and she dispatched essential messages — all with self-effacing efficiency and in a soft voice that seems to holds a trace of a Scottish burr.

Irreplaceable. "Stuart Country Day School, may I help you?" was her ready response to the ringing of the phone. Headmistress Sister Joan Magnetti, speaking Saturday of Mme. Condell's "sense of service, faith and courage," added, "What one person can do just in answering a phone is truly extraordinary."

Board chairman Eric Solomon spoke of the way in which Mme. Condell unfailingly inquired after his wife and his daughter every time he called the school. "Her quiet dignity and strength is just unbelievable," he said. "I don't know how we are going to replace her."

Mr. Solomon made a presentation of the funds gathered from all segments of the school for the Margherita Condell Scholarship Fund which had been established by her special friend, the late Dr. Muriel Gardiner. Other gifts included a quilt on which each of the 210 children in the lower school had drawn a picture or written something on his or her special square.

The upper and middle schools each gave Madame (as she is known to all at the school) a book with every page inscribed or decorated by an individual student.

There were other tributes: from Martha Challener on behalf of the teachers, noting that Madame's "way" of instinctively knowing the little things to say when someone was suffering a loss or celebrating a joy extended to the faculty as well as to the students. Mrs. Challener added, "You're the most beautiful role model for all these girls!" and Pam Abernathy, president of the Parents Association, spoke of Madame's "humor, grace and beauty."

Rusty Murphy Kitts, president of the 500-member Stuart Alumnae Association, bravely spoke a paragraph in French, after reminiscing wryly (in English) about Madame's tolerance for her difficulty with the foreign language when she was a student.

Not An Easy Life. For all her saintly qualities and evident deep faith, Madame Condell has lived a life that has not been easy. Born in London, May 19, 1901, she and her two sisters were sent to a convent in Belgium for their secondary school education. When World War I broke out unexpectedly, the teenage sisters were marooned there, cut off from their family, for the duration of the war. It was a time of loneliness and deprivation which she does not dwell upon now.

Later she returned to Europe to teach at a Sacred Heart school in Brussels. Among her students was Belgian Princess Marie-Joseph, to whnm she taught English and French literature and with whom she remained in close contact for many years. She met a young Russian emigre, son of the governor of Tiflis who was assassinated in the presence of the son during the Russian Revolution. He was studying for his doctnrate at the University of Louvain, and they were subsequently married.

They came to the United States in 1928 when her husband joined the faculty of the School of Foreign Languages at Georgetown University. A son was born, but the marriage soon ended, and Mme. Condell took a family name as her surname and resumed her teaching career to support herself. Fluent in German, Dutch and Russian as well as French and English, she tutored and taught literature and languages.

After teaching in Washington for several years, she learned of a position in the circulation department at the Princeton University Library to which she applied and was accepted. Later she joined the University's real estate department, and for almost 15 years, drawing on her knowledge of languages, helped foreign students find housing and acted as their liaison.

Chosing Stuart. In 1963, after her son had graduated from Princeton University, Mme. Condell was invited by Mother Agnes Barry, head of the Order of the Sacred Heart, to come teach French and manners at the Sacred Heart school then under construction on Stuart Road She has heen there ever since

At a celebration of her 15th anniversary at Stuart, she told the nuns living as she has at the school: "You inherited me, but I chose you." She is also fond of drawing an analogy between herself and Mary Queen of Scots, who is reported to have said on her way to being beheaded, "If you look into my heart you will see 'Calais' written there. If you look into my heart," Mme. Condell says, "you will see 'Stuart' written there."

On Saturday, she spoke these words of parting: "I hand over as a torch the spirit of Stuart which I have carried with so much pride and joy. Keep alive that spirit of love and joy, and may God bless each and every one of you And thank you from the depth of my heart." There was hardly a dry eye in the place.

But Madame Condell will be taking up a new kind of service at Kenwood, a Sacred Heart retirement community in Albany, N.Y., where there is also a flourishing co-ed K-12 day school. In accepting doctor's orders and making her decision to leave Stuart, she told Sister Joan that "the whole of life is learning to let go." She said she felt she has a lot yet to contribute and that Stuart must help her take the next step and "let go."

Solicitation

Mr. Baker's comments led to a discussion of the reasons why the previous, and unwritten, 6:30 p.m. canvassing cutoff time was in the process of being extended by up to two and a half hours.

The ordinance was drawn up in response to a lawsuit against the Borough by Citizens Action Group, which charged the early cut-off time was in violation of the First Amendment. Citizens Action is a statewide grass roots lobbying organization that solicits door-to-door for support and funding.

The group had agreed to drop legal action if the ordinance was passed.

Borough Attorney Walter Bliss noted that canvassing falls into the rights guaranteed by the Constitution, but that it may be regulated by the government for security, safety, and privacy.

Council President Richard Woodbridge, who unsuccessfully attempted to change the ordinance to a 7 p.m. cutoff time year-round, said the question was one of safety. "The First Amendment is on one side and there are two arguments on the other: the right of the state to regulate and the right of residents to feel secure in their own homes."

Don't Answer. Councilwoman Mildred Trotman said that people could exercise their right not to answer the door, while Councilman Reed expressed concern that an early cut-off hour would prevent groups with an important message from informing the citizenry.

"I wouldn't like to be told by groups such as those on nuclear disarmament and acid rain that they couldn't get their message to me because they weren't allowed to knock on my door," he said.

It was also noted that every citizen has the right to post a "no solicitation" sign, and that all groups must register with the Borough Clerk before being permitted to canvass.

The ordinance was approved five to one, Councilman Woodbridge dissenting.

Benefit Ball

that region. He plans to take the group on its second tour of Russia this summer.

To take the Princeton connection one step further: After leaving Princeton, and before going to Tulane, Mr. Starr assisted former U.S. Ambassador George Kennan in setting up the Kennan Institute in Washington, D.C. It was Mr. Kennan, a professor emeritus at the Institute and an avid jazz guitarist himself, who suggested that Mr Starr and his Louisiana Repertory Jazz Ensemble play for the Benefit Ball.

Guests for this evening — most, but not all, Princeton residents — included heads of corporations of the dimension of Johnson & Johnson, IBM, RCA, AT&T and Squibb; presidents of such multi-million dollar foundations as Robert Wood Johnson and Rockefeller; the president of Carnegie Hall and its major restoration fund; the head of the Metropolitan Museum and former financial adviser to the Rockefellers; the head of the New York Botanical Garden and former president of New York University; the chairman and publisher of Scientific American; columnist Joseph Kraft and jazz critic John Wilson — an illustrious group of which this listing, as they say, is incomplete.

They paid $125 apiece for the evening of "Jazz and Jubilation" organized by a benefit committee headed by Mary Keating and Didi Burke. Pat Woolf, wife of Institute Director Harry Woolf, was honorary chairman, and much of the work of the arrangements was carried out by Assistant to the Director Mary Wisnovsky and the Institute staff.

An equally illustrious group of sponsors and contributors underwrote most of the expenses for the Ball, contributing the wine, for instance, or the quail eggs. That will enable a larger percentage of the proceeds — perhaps as much as $30,000, according to Mr. Woolf — to be used to provide stipends to the visiting scholars and scientists at the Institute where, as the invitation noted poetically, "the greater gifts of time, tranquillity and converse with a distinguished Faculty create a unique environment for the enhancement of knowledge."

Magnificent Menu. The menu for this extraordinary event vied with the jazz band, the guest list and the ambiance as the central attraction. Dinner began with a marvelous saute of duck foie gras accompanied by top quality French bread, sweet butter and a 1982 Heitz Chardonnay wine. After a twirl on the dance floor, diners found themselves presented with succulent roast loin of veal in morel sauce, wild rice cooked to perfection, and asparagus that was still green and crisp.

The wine for this course was a 1979 Gevrey-Chambertin. Dessert, as one guest was heard to say, may have been even better than the main course. Raspberries in a light creamy whip topped with a crisp crepe dusted with powdered sugar defied the menu description of raspberry bavaroise.

How did the Institute, a collection of super intellectuals in deep thought, come by a chef of this expertise? And who is this elite group — the Friends of the Institute for Advanced Study — who, for a contribution of $1,000 a year, may dine twice a week with the intellectuals on such gourmet fare?

We sought out Director Harry Woolf for the answers. He began by describing the week-long symposium held at the Institute in 1979 in honor of the 100th anniversary of the birth of Albert Einstein, first professor at the Institute. In ways similar to what the Institute does on a regular basis for its regular Visiting Members, the Einstein symposium involved the housing and feeding of its special visitors.

A caterer was hired, and at one dinner Mr. Woolf, a man of exquisite sensibilities, remarked that the rack of lamb tasted as if it were prepared for three instead of 300. He sought out Franz Moen, the chef responsible, and in short order installed him in charge of the Institute dining facility. A German by birth, Mr. Moen was studying for a Ph.D. in comparative literature at Yale until he realized that cooking was the life he preferred.

"He and I gradually built a wine cellar," Mr. Woolf continued, "and now we have over 150 wines." Together, as "a gift to the community," they devised the idea of Friends of the Institute, similar to the other "Friends" organizations in town but with the added privilege of dining at the Institute twice a week and of inviting guests.

There are presently 90 Founding Friends and Patrons and another 10 Supporting Members. Some of these Friends, like Yehudi Menuhin of London, England, and Stavros Niarchos, with a Switzerland address, probably do not exercise their dining card privilege often, but the great majority are Princeton residents.

Mutual Pleasures. One Princeton couple regularly holds dinner parties of from 10 to 12 friends in the Institute dining hall. Mr. Woolf, who speaks softly and often poetically, calls it "a mutual serving of purposes and pleasures." He points out that unlike a college, to which the Institute is often compared, it has no "normal constitutency" and "therefore we make do with the community as our constituency."

He goes on to describe how the academic work of the Institute is carried out in four Schools: Historical Studies, Mathematics, Natural Sciences and Social Science. There is a faculty for each school, all with the same rank of professor. Each school invites a certain number of Visiting Members each year.

They come from universities and research institutions all over the world. The Institute provides stipends, travel allowances, subsidized housing and food for them and their families. This in turn means freedom from distractions, the gift of time, and the ability to interact with other brilliant minds.

The Institute has 21 to 22 permanent professors, 160 to 170 individual scholars, and a staff of 100 for a "community" of 300. Support is provided in part by endowment income; the rest must be raised by gifts and grants, which vary from year to year. Thus Mr. Woolf, as director, seeks to develop what he calls "a constituency of understanding," not only for financial support but also as enhancement of the importance of research per se, not necessarily with a specific goal in mind.

His credo seems to be "maximal quality in everything we touch," whether searching for the best minds to live and work at the Institute, or managing the Institute Woods, or permitting the dining hall to be used pro bono by a handful of hand-picked apolitical organizations for fund raising activities each year. He repeats his desire to have "the community understand us" and adds, "I think that is largely happening now."

Guests departing the 55th anniversary Jazz and Jubilee Benefit Ball seem to have genuinely enjoyed themselves and to have felt they had been at a happening of a very special kind — even for Princeton.

RAPPORT REPORTED

At Canal Meetings. Meetings held last week between various groups with an abiding interest in the management of the Delaware and Raritan Canal and the Canal park seem to have made progress in reaching greater understanding between the constituencies.

Township Engineer Robert V. Kiser is heading up the technical group that is holding meetings in regard to a slurry wall proposed to be inserted in the narrow towpath between the Millstone aqueduct and the Kingston lock. Engineering consultants for the New Jersey Water Authority, which is conducting a dredging of the canal in order to increase water flow, had recommended the in-ground wall to prevent seepage of water from Lake Carnegie into the canal when the canal is drained for dry dredging.

Township residents have questioned the need for the slurry wall, which necessitated the cutting of all trees in that two-mile stretch of towpath and which will cost $500,000 to put in place. Some 20 people attended last week's meeting on the slurry wall, including representatives from the Authority, the consultants, the state Department of Building and Construction, the D&R Canal Commission, the Soil Conservation Corps, Princeton University's Department of Civil Engineering, Mr. Kiser and three Township residents.

According to Mr. Kiser, the Authority and its engineers were asked to perform additional field work and analysis because it was felt not enough information was available to make a decision on the need for the slurry wall. Canal historians and longtime residents remember back to the time when water in the Canal was drawn down every year when the Canal was in operation, and there never was a problem of seepage from the Lake. Why, they ask, would this not still be the case?

Mr. Kiser says the Authority and its engineers were asked to measure the depth of sediment of the canal as it relates to the slope of the embankment. There is a difference of opinion, Mr. Kiser relates, between the Authority's estimate of the below-water embankment angle and his estimate and that of others.

The Authority was also asked to sample soils along the embankment to determine their physical properties for conveying water. "We're not saying it (the slurry wall) isn't needed," Mr. Kiser reports. "We're saying additional tests should be made." The Authority has agreed, he says, to do additional field work and additional analysis.

Trees on Wall. Mr. Kiser also reports that the Water Authority now says that trees can be planted on top of the slurry wall, although initially it had felt tree roots would penetrate the wall and cause problems. This means that the landscaper whom the D&R Canal Coalition, a citizens' group, has asked to draw up a plan on the restoration has a better idea of what is possible.

At another meeting the same week, this one with planners and lawyers, the matter of the transfer of the title to the D&R Canal from the Division of Parks and Forests in the Department of Environmental Protection to the Water Authority was discussed. According to C. McKim Norton, vice chair of the D&R Canal Coalition, that meeting was "very successful and very pleasant." Mr. Norton presented his suggestions that the Water Authority needs for jurisdiction and access be met through leasing or easement.

He reports that there seemed to be "no major difficulty" with this concept and that Water Authority representatives agreed to draw up a plan involving such arrangements for Coalition and Township representatives to review.

PEOPLE in the News

Several Princeton Day School students have been awarded grants for summer study at various institutions.

Junior Rad Roberts, son of Prof. and Mrs. Radcliffe B. Roberts, 85 Linwood Circle, has been accepted by the New Jersey Scholars Program. He will attend a five-week program to study one topic in depth in an interdisciplinary program.

Three PDS students have been accepted by the Governor's School, a four-week, tuition-free honors summer session for high school students entering the senior year. Jaye Chen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chia-Jan Chen of Princeton will attend the science program offered by Drew University; Claire Riccardi, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. T. Riccardi Jr. of Skillman, has gained admission to the writing program, which will be presented at Trenton State College; and Deborah Snyder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Snyder of East Brunswick, has been accepted by the arts program, also offered at Trenton State College. In addition, Helen Kreisler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Kreisler, 15 Mason Drive, was a finalist in the arts competition.

The Governor's School Program is a joint effort of the Governor's Office, the Department of Education and the Department of Higher Education. It is supported by both public and private resources.

Steve Moseley, son of Dr. and Mrs. Roger Moseley, 113 Linwood Circle, a junior at Wesleyan University in Middletown, Conn., has earned his third varsity letter in lacrosse.

Steve Moseley

Harriet Kass, 165 Bertrand Drive, has been named a 1985 TWIN Award winner for her outstanding achievements in business and industry. The awards are part of the Tribute to Women and Industry (TWIN) program of the Plainfield/North Plainfield YWCA.

Ms. Kass is district manager for public affairs at AT&T Communications in Basking Ridge.

Thomas A. Engelman of Princeton received a distinguished service award for his contribution to scholastic journalism during the recent Southern Interscholastic Press Association convention held at the University of South Carolina

Michael L. Epstein of Lawrenceville, professor of psychology at Rider College, has been selected as the Alpha Lambda Delta faculty member of the year for 1984-85. ALD is a freshman honor society that recognizes and encourages superior academic achievement and that prizes effective, dedicated teaching.

Dr. Epstein joined the Rider faculty in 1971 after serving on the faculty of the University of Washington in 1970-71. He is a specialist in verbal learning and memory and has published more than 30 papers. In addition, Dr. Epstein has conducted independent study trips to Israeli kibbutzim in 1973, 1982 and 1983.

Rodney J. Rodriguez of Pennington, an associate professor of Spanish at Rider College, has been invited to participate in the humanities seminar for visiting scholars at New York University this fall. The seminar is entitled "Islam: Religion, Culture, World Force."

A specialist in 19th-century Spanish literature, Dr. Rodriguez came to Rider in 1972. He previously served on the faculty of Northwestern University between 1968 and 1972. He holds his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in Spanish from Northwestern and a B.A. degree in Spanish/English from Florida State University.

A Woodrow Wilson Fellow, he also received a National Endowment for the Humanities Fellowship in 1977 to participate with 12 other specialists in a two-month seminar on 18th-century Spanish literature at the University of Georgia.

'HONORIS MAXIMA CAUSA': William H. Scheide, center, received the honorary Doctor of Humane Letters from Westminster Choir College at its 56th annual commencement ceremony. Joseph Flummerfelt, left, artistic director and principal conductor, assists the Rev. David Prince, chairman of the board of trustees, in placing the hood on Mr. Scheide, honored for his contributions as "a scholar, bibliophile, responsible citizen, trustee of worthy institutions, benefactor and friend of Westminster Choir College."

Thomas V. Seessel of Featherbed Lane, Hopewell, has been named executive director of the National Council on Alcoholism.

Mr. Seessel has conducted a private practice of management and public affairs consulting, based in Hopewell, since 1979. Before establishing his own business, he was founding executive director of the New Jersey Housing Finance Agency (1967-70); senior program officer with the Ford Foundation (1970-74); deputy commissioner of the N.J. Department of Environmental Education, and executive vice president of MDRC, a non-profit economic and social policy research firm.

Mr. Seessel has been recovered from alcoholism himself since 1976. His wife, Diane W. Seessel, is a certified alcoholism counselor. The National Council on Alcoholism, which he will direct, was founded in 1944 and is the only national voluntary health agency created to combat the disease of alcoholism and to fight the stigma associated with the illness.

Damian Roskill, son of Mrs. John Shearman, 87 College Road, has been inducted into the Cum Laude Society at Loomis Chaffee School, Windsor, Conn.

Forms of Psychological Inquiry by Joseph M. Notterman, professor of psychology at Princeton University, has been published by Columbia University Press as part of its critical assessments of contemporary psychology series.

In this book, Prof. Notterman, an expert in experimental psychology who has taught at Princeton since 1956, has described how humans have viewed themselves psychologically from ancient times to the present. His intention was to give students a perspective on psychology, helping them recognize that many of the problems considered new in the field are actually quite old — some even primeval.

He shows that although these problems still exist, our understanding of them, and of their relation to each other, keeps changing and is gradually but steadily increasing.

Lynne Cherry, 650 Rosedale Road, is the illustrator of a children's book entitled Harriet and William and the Terrible Creature by Valerie Scho Carey.

Ms. Cherry has illustrated some 20 books, including books of poetry and cookbooks. For The Snail Spell, another children's book, she won the annual children's book award of the New York Academy of Science.

Peter E. Madison, 645 Snowden Lane, has joined the Vantage Companies New Jersey Division in West Paterson as vice president-property management. Prior to joining Vantage, he spent five years with Carteret Savings in Morristown as assistant vice president in construction, real estate and facilities management.

Peter Madison

G. Terence Wilson, 21 Caldwell Drive, has been named the Oscar Kirsen Buros Professor of Psychology at Rutgers University.

Dr. Wilson, a member of the faculty of the Graduate School of Applied and Professional Psychology, is in the forefront of critical analysis of psychotherapy and behavior change.

Dr. Pauline Jenson of Princeton, professor of speech pathology, audiology, and education of the hearing impaired at Trenton State College, was guest speaker at a workshop for the speech pathology support staff of New Jersey's day training centers for the severely developmentally handicapped. Her topics was "Maximizing Auditory Input for Hearing Impaired Developmentally Disabled Children."

Knoepflmacher, 120 FitzRandolph Road, professor of English at Princeton University, has been awarded the 1984 Children's Literature Association award for the best critical article on children's literature published in 1983. Prof. Knoepflmacher won the award for his article "The Balancing of Child and Adult," which appeared in the March, 1983 issue of Nineteenth Century Fiction.

He received the award at the Children's Literature Association annual convention at Ann Arbor, Mich.

Jeffrey N. Stout, son of Nils J. and Edna K. Stout, 130 West Wellington Avenue, Pennington, has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force upon graduation from Officer Training School at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas. He is a 1984 graduate of Hawthorne College, Antrim, N.H.

Dr. Gabriella Sechi, 373 Riverside Drive, assistant professor of electronics engineering technology at Trenton State College, has been elected a senior member of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers. Only ten percent of IEEE members are elected to this level.

Monica Walsh of Princeton has been named vice president of The Marcus Group, Inc., a public relations and governmental affairs counselling firm headquartered in Newark. She joined the firm in December, 1983, as an account executive, after a decade of experience in both the administrative and legislative branches of New Jersey State Government.

William Riley, bass-baritone and Westminster Choir College faculty member, took part in the 1985 National Federation of Music Clubs' young artist competition for oratorio singers.

Mr. Riley successfully competed in state and regional auditions to achieve the national semi-finals and finals held in Wichita, Kan. Having earned degrees in vocal music from Southern Methodist University and the University of Illinois, he has been a professional singer and voice teacher for 10 years. He has also appeared with opera companies and symphony orchestras from coast to coast and has more than 40 oratorios in his repertoire.

Philip A. Katz, Ph.D., of Princeton, has been appointed to the newly created post of associate vice president for technology and information management at Thomas Jefferson University, Philadelphia. He is also assistant professor of radiology and surgery, Jefferson Medical College of Thomas Jefferson University.

Dr. Katz, who came to Jefferson in 1977 as director of biomedical instrumentation, also holds an adjunct appointment at Drexel University. He was a lecturer at Tel Aviv University, Israel, and performed post-doctoral research at the Austrian Academy of Sciences in Vienna.

Arthur Nelson, 8 Millbrook Lane, Lawrenceville, will sing The Star-Spongled Banner in Giants Stadium in the Meadowlands on Saturday, June 1, at 7 before the start of the N.J. Generals-Memphis Showboat football games.

Mr. Nelson has been the soloist at the state convention of the American Legion for the past three years and is a vice commander of Lawrenceville Post 414. He has sung in PJ&B shows and as part of The Enfertainers, a group of musical soloists who perform in nursing homes and for other charitable causes. June 1 at Giants Stadium will be American Legion Night, with ticket proceeds earmarked for the renovation of the amphitheater of Lyons Veterans Administration Hospital.

Mr. Nelson, 62, is a retired N.J. Department of Labor Employee with 32 years of service. He is a Purple Heart veteran of World War II, a graduate of Rider College and a Mercer County resident for 13 years.

Pfc. James T. Bates, son of Thomas M. and Patricia R. Bates, 19 Bennington Way, Belle Mead, has become part of an 82nd Airborne Division's cohesion operational readiness and training (COHORT) unit by parachuting onto Fort Bragg, N.C. He is a 1983 graduate of Cornell University.

Navy Ensign Timothy P. Mahony, son of Leo and Marion Mahony of Hopewell, was designated a Naval Aviator. Presentation of the "Wings of Gold" marked culmination of 18 months of flight training.

Richard W. Couper, 51 Cleveland Lane, president of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation and former president of The New York Public Library, will address the 1985 graduating class of William Paterson College, Wayne, N.J. He will also be awarded an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree.

Richard W. Couper

As architect for new corporate headquarters for Humana Inc., hospital company in Louisville, Ky., Michael Graves will attend the public dedication ceremony on June 16.

The Humana Building, which took two years to complete, is a 27-story structure containing 588,400 square feet and 900 employees. Mr. Graves' design was chosen by Humana in May, 1982, as the winner of an invited competition that drew entries from five internationally prominent architects.

The building is sheathed in two-inch thick granite slabs from five different countries and five different colors. The lobby, rotunda and elevator bays are finished with marble quarried in Italy and France. The north and east facades are dominated by columns, seven feet square, forming a public loggia on one street and a shopping arcade along another

Richard M. Ludwig, professor of English at Princeton University and assistant librarian for rare books and special collections, was honored recently with a special award during the 10th anniversary dinner of the Howard T Behrman Awards. This is an annual University event that recognizes distinguished achievement in the humanities.

The Howard T Behrman Awards were established in 1975 with a gift from Dr. Behrman, a New York dermatologist who is also a collector of rare books. Recipients are usually chosen from among Princeton faculty members in the University's humanities departments and selected by a committee chaired by Dean of the Faculty Aaron Lemonick.

Prof. Ludwig has served as a member of this committee since its inception, but this PDS faculty members Bonnie Howarth and Chris Page have been awarded fellowships.

Mrs. Howarth, Grade VIII English teacher, has been chosen by the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation to participate in the Drew University/Woodrow Wilson Workshop on Computer Writing, June 24 through July 12. She was selected from a group representing teachers with an interest in and experience in innovation in techniques for teaching writing. Mrs. Howarth is the only middle school teacher who will be involved in the program; the other 29 participants are high school or college teachers.

Mrs. Howarth's own computer writing program is presently used in the PDS Middle School, and she has offered several word processing workshops to faculty and parents.

Mr. Page, Upper School math and geography teacher and Middle School history teacher, is the winner of a Klingenstein Fellowship. He is one of 12 independent school teachers in the United States to be honored this year. His proposal, entitled "The Use of Games in Middle and Upper School," was accepted for study during 1985-86. Mr. Page's award involves graduate work at Columbia University's Teacher College and independent research on the use and theory of games in education.

John V. Bienkowski, son of Mrs. George K. Bienkowski, 31 Randall Road, is completing Dickinson College's internship program for the spring semester. He is a senior majoring in economics.

Navy Petty Officer 3rd Class Timothy F. Freeman, son of Mr. F.M. Freeman, 10 Brandon Road, Lawrenceville, is a crew member aboard the guided missile destroyer USS Callaghan, which has been awarded the Anti-Surface Warfare Award for the competitive cycle ending December 31, 1984.

Stephen Loughran, 24, Lakeview Drive, has been awarded a $500 college scholarship by the Reserve Officers Association of the United States. The award was one of 100 given to college students in the Henry J. Reilly Memorial Scholarship program.

Mr. Loughran is an Ensign in the naval reserve. He will be a graduate student of business administration this fall at Harvard Business School.

Rupert C. Chowins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Chowins, Pretty Brook Road, and a student at Illinois College of Optometry, has been selected as one of the country's most outstanding campus leaders by the Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges editorial staff.

He will be included in the 1985 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, an annual directory of outstanding students.

Airman George E. Tilton III, son of Carole L. Tilton, 42 Hart Avenue, Hopewell, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force administrative specialist course at Keesler Air Force Base, Miss. He is a 1984 graduate of Hopewell Valley Central High School.

FIRM IS NAMED

To Renovate Center. Gilbane Building Company has been awarded the contract to implement renovations at the Princeton Shopping Center. Construction will begin immediately.

Founded in 1873, Gilbane Building Company is one of the nation's largest building contractors and ranks among the 25 largest construction companies in the country. The firm is involved in all major construction markets including industrial, institutional, commercial, and residential. The firm's most notable projects include the National Air and Space Museum in Washington, D.C., the facilities for the 1980 Winter Olympics in Lake Placid, N.Y., the Orlando International Airport, and the Vietnam Memorial in Washington, D.C.

The Princeton Shopping Center renovation will be managed by Gilbane's Princeton office. Gilbane is the builder of the Princeton Hyatt-Regency, Exxon Research & Engineering Company in Clinton, and the Federal Express Metroplex facility at Newark International Airport. The renovations for the 30-year-old Shopping Center have been designed by The Hillier Group, architects, planners and interior designers.

At Harrison Street, a new archway will focus attention on the major entrance to the center. Green and white awnings will carry shop names and link the shops together horizontally while concealing the rooftop mechanical equipment. New white exterior paint will create a uniform look for the various elements within the center.

A two-story high clock tower is designed to invite shoppers into the interior courtyard where a fountain will provide the atmosphere for outdoor lunches, festivals, and exhibits.

FIRM EXPANDS

Into Larger Quarters. Chyun Associates, architectural, engineering and laboratory firm, has expanded its office at 429 Wall Street, Research Park, Route 206. The firm has taken on 1,500 square feet of additional space to accommodate the company's rapid growth.

Chyun Associates offers a wide variety of environmental services, including health and safety management at hazardous sites. Architectural projects currently on the boards include new Honda facilities for Z&W Enterprises, expansion of the Pennington Shopping Center, renovations of the Cape May Convention Center, and post office renovations in Lakewood and Plainsboro for the U.S. Postal Service.

The laboratory, certified by the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection, provides complete analytical services to residential, industrial and municipal clients.

ARCHITECTS HONORED

Selected from 600. Two Princeton firms, Michael Graves, Architect, and Kelbaugh & Lee, have been chosen as winners of The American Institute of Architects 985 Honor Awards. They were chosen from more than 600 entries.

Michael Graves was honored for the design of the San Juan Capistrano Library in San Juan Capistrano, Ca., a transformation of the Spanish mission style into a modern 10,000-square-foot building.

Kelbaugh & Lee received the award for the Roosevelt Solar Village, 21 attached one-story cottages and a community center designed as low-income housing in Roosevelt, N.J.

MOVE TO LAWRENCE

From Trenton. Stephen M. Segal, president of the specialty real estate marketing and consulting firm that bears his name, has announced the relocation and expansion of the company's offices to a new office building located at 989 Lenox Drive in the Princeton Pike Corporate Center in Lawrence Township.

The firm was founded in 1968 and has been located continuously in the National State Bank building in downtown Trenton. According to Mr. Segal, the move is a "competitive repositioning of the company's headquarters to a more centralized location within its area of maximum activity, which is in central New Jersey and Bucks County, Pa.

The relocation has added 50 percent more space to the company's headquarters.

AIR SERVICE EXPANDED

More Flights to D.C. "The Delta Connection," operated by Ransome Airlines, will expand its service between Trenton's Mercer County Airport and Washington National Airport beginning June 3.

Four round trips between the two cities will be scheduled every weekday. Flights from Trenton will leave at 7 a.m., 9 a.m., 3:25 p.m. and 5:10 p.m.

Flights from Washington to Trenton will depart at 7:55 a.m., 2:20 p.m., 3:55 p.m., and 6:50 p.m.

NEW HEAD NAMED

For AT&T Facility. Laurence C. Seifert has been named General Manager, Research and Development, of AT&T's Engineering Research and Manufacturing Development Centers on Carter Road. The position was most recently held by Robert Clagett.

Laurence C. Seifert

Mr. Seifert began his AT&T career in 1957 at the Kearny Works in Kearny, N.J. He has held numerous manufacturing and engineering positions at AT&T locations in New Jersey, New York, Massachusetts and California. Before assuming his current position, he was the director of engineering at the Oklahoma City Works in Oklahoma City, Ok.

Mr. Seifert, a New Jersey native, has a bachelor's degree in electrical engineering from New Jersey Institute of Technology. He is a member of the International Conference on Computer Communications, and the national and Oklahoma Societies of Professional Engineers.

Fred Skillman, Manager of John T. Henderson's Belle Mead office, has announced a sell-out of Rolling Meadows, a new development by Rick Grosso, Montgomery Builder. Started just a few months ago, these thirteen luxurious colonials have been "gobbled up" by incoming executives through Henderson's relocation network. Mr. Skillman attributes this success to the quality and reputation of Mr. Grosso, who has grown and developed himself over the years as Montgomery Township has. He has been responsible for the design of many communities throughout Montgomery. A resident of the township, Mr. Grosso believes in the area and has transmitted this feeling to buyers throughout Mill Pond Estates, Griggstown Estates, Cambridge Estates and Rolling Meadows. Situated in the hills off Opposum Road, these large houses offer such amenities as Jacuzzis, central vacuum systems and skylights.

BULLETIN NOTES

The Men's Association of the Witherspoon Presbyterian Church will hold its annual Men's Day on Sunday.

The day's activities will start with an old-fashioned Sunday morning breakfast served between 8 and 10. The guest speaker for the 11 a.m worship service will be the Rev. M. William Howard Jr., executive director, Office of the Black Council, Reformed Church in America. Mr. Howard is a former president of the National Council of Churches who was a member of the ecumenical delegation that visited the Americans held hostage by Iran. Along with the Rev. Jesse Jackson, he helped to free Navy Lt. Robert O. Goodman from captivity in Syria.

A fellowship hour will follow the service.

The Calvary Baptist Church, 3 East Broad Street, Hopewell, will serve baked ham and chicken salad, plus a fresh strawberry dessert, on Saturday, June 1, from noon to 7. The dinner is a fundraiser for the church.

The Jewish Center, will hold Confirmation for this year's confirmands on Saturday at 8 p.m. The theme is "Relationships," and each student will give a presentation on an aspect of the theme. Students will also participate in the Shavuot evening service.

On Friday, the Zaylin class graduation will be held at 8:15. Students will lead the service and give a presentation based on their history studies. A reception will follow.

A reception will be held Wednesday, May 29, at the First Presbyterian Church of Plainsboro for the Rev. Javier Naranjo, a Presbyterian pastor from Cuba. Mr. Naranjo has been visiting the United States as part of a "Mission to the USA" project of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.).

Mr. Naranjo is pastor of two churches in the Reformed Presbyterian Church of Cuba and is the executive secretary of his Presbytery. He has been active in international and ecumenical work and will speak on the background and current life and mission of the Cuban church — how a Christian community functions in a socialist society and ways in which Cuban and American churches can be mutually supportive.

Refreshments will be served. Members of the community are welcome.

Dr. Kathleen E. McVey will be the guest preacher at the 11 a.m worship service at the Princeton University Chapel on Sunday. A graduate of

The Rev. M. William Howard

Radcliffe College and Harvard University, Dr. McVey is an assistant professor of church history at Princeton Theological Seminary.

Prior to her arrival in Princeton, she was a visiting professor in Coptic and Syriac languages and Syriac literature at the Ecole Biblique et Archeologique Francaise. Dr. McVey has also been an area supervisor for excavations sponsored by the American Schools of Oriental Research. The author of several book reviews and articles, she is currently writing a volume entitled Ephrem the Syrian for Paulist Press and revising her doctoral dissertation for publication.

Douglas Rhodes of Yardley, Pa. was elected president of the Unitarian Church at the annual meeting of the church of May 18.

Mr. Rhodes is associate director of National Assessment of Educational Progress at Educational Testing Service. He is a graduate of the University of Buffalo, and received a Ph.D. degree from Indiana University at Bloomington and a M.B.A. from Columbia Graduate School.

He has previously served as vice president for religious education, vice president for programming, chair of the worship committee, as a member of the ministerial relations committee and as a Sunday School teacher.

Other officers elected are Sonia Shainheit, vice president of program; Lewis Kraft, vice president of administration; Carol Haag, vice president of religious education; Jennifer Hanson-Marz, vice president of congregational affairs; Dorothy Jackson, vice president of social concerns; Dana Powsner, secretary, and John Henderson, youth trustee.

Mary Mikkelsen and Ed Pfeiffer were elected trustees-at-large. Trustees remaining in office are Mary Ascher, Raj Nigam, Walter Han-Marz and Anne O'Neil.

Trinity Church, Rocky Hill, will hold its Spring Rummage Sale Friday from 10 to 6 at the church on Crescent Avenue.

Beyond War orientations will be held on three consecutive Thursdays, May 16, 23 and 30 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Unitarian Universalist Church of Washington Crossing on the Washington Crossing-Pennington Road in Titusville.

For more information call Barbara Livingstone, 392-0946.

Princeton Alliance Church Pioneer Clubs for boys and girls in grades 1-6 will celebrate the end of their first year with a program of magic and Gospel music Friday at 7:30. The performance, which will be held at Christ Congregation, will feature Neil Madsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Madsen of Laurel Road and a magician and recording artist.

In addition to playing the trombone, Neil will make live doves and rabbits appear and disappear to illustrate Bible truths. A sophomore at the Music Conservatory of Wheaton College in Illinois, Neil recorded an album of inspirational music on the trombone while he was in high school.

The Unitarian Church will hold a congregational meeting on Sunday, following a pot luck supper. Wine and cheese will be at 6, dinner at 6:30 and the meeting will be called at 7:30.

Applause broke out at Trinity Church, 33 Mercer Street, last Sunday when it was announced that the Rev. John Crocker Jr., rector, had not been elected Bishop Coadjutor of the Episcopal Diocese of Massachusetts. Mr. Crocker had permitted his name to be entered in nomination with four others. The Rev. David Johnson of Florida was elected last Saturday on the fourth ballot at a convention of Diocesan clergy and lay leaders.

"The Lord has spoken," Mr. Crocker said, adding that he was relieved to have the election process over with. He told cheering and equally relieved parishioners that he would be with them until retirement. Mr. Crocker will be 62 in the fall and has been rector of Trinity for the past eight years.

The Rev. Leon Gipson, pastor of Mt. Zion A.M.E. Church in Trenton, will be the guest speaker Sunday at an afternoon pew service sponsored by the Special Projects Committee of Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. Church.

Rev. Gipson, former pastor of Mt. Pisgah, will be bringing his choir with him to the 4 p.m. service. The public is invited to attend

---

Fourteen youths will be confirmed Sunday, Pentecost, at the 11 a.m. service at Prince of Peace Lutheran Church, Hightstown Road, Princeton Junction.

The public is invited to the ceremony. For information, call 799-1753 or 924-6073.

Fred T. Golub has been appointed to the new position of director, human resources administration, of Squibb Pharmaceutical Products Group. He will represent the group on all human resources planning and policy, implement compensation and benefit plans, and coordinate all human resource information worldwide.

Mr. Golub was general chairman of the company's 125th Anniversary celebration at New Brunswick and is currently president of the Squibb Management Association.

Richard K. Kull, M.D., of Montgomery Township, has been appointed closed unit administrator of the Carrier Foundation in Belle Mead. In his new position, Dr. Kull will be responsible for the administration of closed units including emergency treatment and evaluation.

A staff psychiatrist at Carrier since July, 1984, he is a graduate of the medical school of Duke University, Durham, N.C., and served his internship and residency at Massachusetts General Hospital. Dr. Kull is a member of the American Medical Association and the American Psychiatric Association.

Prior to his association with Carrier, Dr. Kull served with the United States Public Health Service as a staff psychiatrist for the Mental Health Division in Butner, N.C., providing inpatient psychiatric care to prisoners through the Federal Bureau of Prisons.

William L. Hom, M.D. has been appointed medical director and vice president of the Carrier Foundation.

Dr. Hom, who has been a staff psychiatrist at Carrier since 1979, has held the position of clinical director of closed units since November, 1980. He is board certified in psychiatry. Dr. Hom graduated from the Tufts University School of Medicine in Boston, and completed his residency at Cambridge, Mass. He also served as chief psychiatric resident at Cambridge Hospital.

A clinical fellow on the Harvard Medical School faculty, Dr. Hom served as clinical instructor in psychiatry while completing his residency. Presently he is an assistant clinical professor at Rutgers Medical School in Piscataway. He holds a professional membership in the American Psychiatric Association and the New Jersey Psychiatric Association.

Janet A. Mitchell, 418 Franklin Avenue, has joined K.M. Light Real Estate as a sales associate. She is publisher of The Mitchell Guide and was a Democratic candidate for Princeton Township Committee in 1984.

A Smith College graduate, she has served as a trustee of the New Jersey Historical Society, a member of the NAACP Legal Defense Fund, and a member of the Morven Committee.

D. Hunt Stockwell Jr. has been appointed senior vice president and chief financial officer of Princeton Bank. He will have overall responsibility for the bank's financial planning, financial reports, accounting procedures and controls, facilities and securities.

Also, Herbert M. Baum, vice president of marketing, Campbell Soup Company, has been named to the bank's board of directors.

ELM RIDGE PARK

The New Boy on the Block and Oh How Handsome! This great looking Federal Colonial with its brick and clapboard facade, long windows and classic dormers is full of special features to brighten and light up your life. A two-story entry hall leads to a step-down living room with fireplace and unique walk-in bay window for plants and sun. A well-proportioned formal dining room leads to a huge kitchen - great room 18 x 26 with breakfast area, skylights, floor-to-ceiling windows, Jenn Aire appliances, greenhouse bay window and terra cotta tile floor. A sunken family room with floor-to-ceiling two-way fireplace and French doors to the outside leads to two more spectacular spaces - a 12 x 16 brick floored greenhouse with fireplace and a separate two-story cathedral ceiling library with free-standing stairs to the master bedroom loft and suite. Upstairs, a complete master suite includes large bedroom, adjoining den - sitting room with walk-in bay windows and a master bath with tiled Jacuzzi and ceramic stall shower. Three other ample bedrooms and large hall bath complete the second floor. Full attic, basement, three-car garage, and outdoor deck. Occupancy late July. We challenge you to match this. $346,000

NEW! NEW! NEW!

This classic Williamsburg Federal soon to be built on one and one half acres in Elm Ridge Park combines the best of traditional architecture with great present day features. A dramatic two-story foyer leads to living room with walk-in bay window and dining room with bay window The island kitchen with Jenn Aire is centered between a sunken great room with cathedral ceiling, exposed beams, floor to ceiling fireplace and French doors to the outside and a family room with wet bar and fireplace. Upstairs a master suite with sitting room-den, spacious bedroom, huge bath with both tub and stall shower. Three other bedrooms and tile hall bath with double vanity sink. Ample attic and basement storage, three-car garage. A great deal of everything for just $340,000

LET'S TALK ABOUT

INVITING BIRDS TO YOUR HOME

with Sam DeTuro
Woodwinds Associates

While it is not a good idea to put out bird food in summer, you can attract birds by using certain landscaping techniques and by planting some favorite foods. Trees like Autumn Olive, Flowering Dogwood and Eastern Red Cedar can provide natural food while beautifying your property. With a little pre-planning you can arrange to provide food all year round. Some plants provide food in fall, some in summer and some in winter. Variety is important in order to attract the largest number of species. If you like Cardinals, Sparrows and Finches you might try planting a small area with grasses like buckwheat, millet and sunflower. Warblers will gorge themselves on bayberries and Robins will feast on dogwood berries.

To keep your trees and shrubs healthy, give WOODWINDS a call for your annual feeding and maintenance. We are glad to be of service.

COMPLETE RESIDENTIAL REAL ESTATE APPRAISAL SERVICE

PRINCETON'S MOST SPECIAL PROPERTY

Rarely has there been in Princeton or anywhere such a perfect blend — a country yet a convenient western Princeton Township location — lovely private 14-acre site with walled gardens, terraces, orchards, a scenic pond and much more. All this enhances and protects an exquisite Colonial dwelling, a guest house, pool complex, platform tennis court, two greenhouses, dog runs and outbuildings. The main house has a spacious entry hall opening to a living room with fireplace and beyond that a unique library with vaulted stenciled ceiling, and natural stone fireplace. A large dining room opens to recently added garden room with tray ceiling with skylight, floor to ceiling windows, and a Jacuzzi tub. Contemporary kitchen and serving pantry. Upstairs, a master suite with its own dressing room and bath with imported tile, a second two bedroom suite, a guest bedroom, and bath with imported tile. The guest house adjacent to the pool has two sitting rooms for entertainment, a guest bedroom and bath plus a complete two bedroom apartment for caretaker or guests.

Price on request

VAN DYKE ROAD

An historic Colonial privately situated on almost three high acres yet located in the Snowden Lane area of Princeton Township just three to five minutes from schools, shopping and recreation. Build about 1800 in the Federal style the floor plan includes a through center hall, well proportioned square living room, a study or family room with adjoining screen porch, dining room with chair rail and antique corner cupboard, modern kitchen with adjoining breakfast room, and separate laundry. Upstairs five bedrooms, three baths, plus two renovatable bedrooms plus bath on third. Five fireplaces, antique panelling and moldings, wide pine floors. Sweeping lawns, lovely shade trees, stone terraces.

$407,000

FORRESTAL VILLAGE

Handsome end unit townhouse in this complex which is most convenient to Route One. Entry hall, spacious living room 13 x 27, dining room 12 x 17, lovely kitchen, powder room. Upstairs a master bedroom 12 x 18 with adjoining bath plus three other bedrooms and bath. Spacious raised deck with a lovely adjoining private garden. Full basement. $165,000

BEDENS BROOK AREA

In the lovely countryside just north of Princeton this immaculate Colonial has all the features for comfortable family living. An entry hall leads to a spacious 26 foot living room, separate dining room, bright eat-in-kitchen, adjoining family room with pegged oak floor and brick fireplace with sliding doors to the patio. Separate utility room, powder room. Upstairs, four bedrooms and two baths plus a fifth bedroom or study on third. Beautiful in-ground pool. Acre plus lot with great views from all directions. $330,000

GUERNSEY HALL

This magnificent 19th century rotunda with its dome and spiral staircase is the entry way to perhaps the most unique condominium unit in the Princeton area. Located in Princeton Borough next to Marquand Park the unit consists of what were the main living areas of this distinctive Italianate Mansion. The 22 x 24 foot living room has 14 foot ceilings, decorative moldings, and Italian Renaissance marble fireplace. The dining room also has fireplace, built-in cabinets, and opens to a covered brick terrace with stone archway which leads to a second open brick terrace. Off the dining room an efficient modern kitchen with island and excellent cabinets. The bedroom with its own dressing area is teak panelled with a beautifully decorative frescoed ceiling. A full bath adjoins and a great powder room is nearby. Central air, on premises caretaker, and grounds with specimen trees and shrubs are further features. $425,000

PROSPECT

In this most convenient and pleasant neighborhood a very roomy multi-level house with loads of space for everything and everybody. The spacious living areas include living room, dining "L", kitchen, family room and office plus six bedrooms and two and one half baths. Large basement, attic storage, patio, two-car garage. A half acre plus lot with lovely shade trees and flowering shrubs. $278,500

MARKHAM SQUARE

The McCosh house - a mansion built in 1887 by Dr. McCosh upon retiring as President of Princeton University. Though some changes have been made through the years, it has retained its original elegance with its stained glass windows and beautiful woodwork. In 1980, it was divided into 2 condominiums which were completely renovated with new kitchens and bathrooms. The major portion of the house is now available offering a superbly gracious style of living. Large foyer, living room, formal dining room, modern kitchen, family room and lavatory on first floor. Three bedrooms and 2 baths on second. Four fireplaces. $375,000

ROLLING HILL ROAD

This spectacular Contemporary in the Bedens Brook area celebrates light and free flowing space. Well designed and well built, the living areas have the flexibility to accommodate an intimate gathering or a large party. On a beautifully wooded acre and with the low maintenance of cedar siding it offers: spacious living room with fireplace, formal dining room, library with fireplace, full bath, modern kitchen, lavatory and luxurious master bedroom (6 closets), and bath. Three bedrooms and 2 baths on second. Family room with bar on lower level. Many custom details. $490,000

MT. LUCAS ROAD

The special charm that only the passage of years can bring pervades this delightful house. In a setting reminiscent of the days it was part of an estate, it is now not far from schools, shopping and recreation area. A wing added later created a gracious living room with fireplace, opening to flagstone terrace, with master bedroom and bath above. The original house includes: hall, separate stairs to maid/guest room and bath, library, formal dining room, modern kitchen, three bedrooms and 2 baths. $245,000

COLD SOIL ROAD

White Cloud Farm - For the gentleman farmer who wants to keep his own horses or would just enjoy surveying his own ten beautiful acres. Just west of Princeton, a long lane through lush pastures leads to a charming historic farm house. Wide floor boards and the walk-in fireplace in the keeping room are reminders of earlier days. Gracious living room, library, dining room, modern kitchen, family room with adjoining greenhouse, sun porch and lavatory complete the first floor. Three bedrooms and two baths on second. Attractive two bedroom guest cottage is rentable. 6 stall barn. $345,000

WERTSVILLE ROAD

If you love a true Victorian with the distinctive architecture of those early days tastefully restored, this is for you! A long driveway leads to this delightful house - now daffodil yellow. On about two acres in the picturesque horse farm country of Amwell Valley, it offers the serenity of the countryside with the conveniences of modern times. Wide floor boards, beautiful woodwork and marble fireplaces add to the charm throughout. Slate floored hall, double parlors, formal dining room, dream kitchen with windowed wall breakfast area, lavatory, enclosed porch on first floor. Four bedrooms and bath on second. Three rooms and bath on third. $239,500

SPRINGWOOD DRIVE

A wooded path to the Village of Lawrenceville is but one of the attractions of this exceptional Colonial. On a gentle hill in a setting of professional landscaping, this sunny, spacious house, in this family oriented neighborhood has much to offer. Slate floored hall, lavatory, living room, formal dining room, kitchen with breakfast area, library with fireplace, laundry, glass walled sun room with beamed ceiling, ceiling fan, wood stove and sliding doors to deck. Five bedrooms and 2 baths on second. Full basement, 2 car garage. Air conditioned. $209,900

PRINCETON ADDRESS

We have continually upgraded this house for 10 years. There are 4 bedrooms, 2½ baths, dining room, living room with bookshelves, bright kitchen, family room with sliding doors, and a 2-car garage/workshop. The house is well-insulated, with gas heat and central air conditioning. The property is a large corner lot — approximately 120' x 200' — with shade trees and flowering shrubs. The neighborhood is quiet, stable, and a 15-minute walk from the train.

While Other Area Hospitals Cut Staff and Close Wards, Princeton Medical Center Is at 90 Percent Occupancy

Princeton Medical Center — located no more than 20 minutes away from four hospitals that have recently cut staff and closed wards — is at about 90 percent occupancy. It sees no drop in admissions in the near future, and is even beginning to think about its next expansion.

In Trenton, Helene Fuld has laid off ten percent of its employees. All of St. Francis' employees, from the president down, will only be allowed to work 38 hours a week through August. And two nursing units have been shut down.

Mercer Medical Center has had to close two wards, and Hamilton Hospital has just announced a reduction in work hours.

Nationally, the overall number of hospital beds dropped last year by 11,000, and many of the country's 6,300 nonprofit hospitals have been left with half-empty surgical wards and underutilized medical services and staff.

The reasons why Princeton Medical Center is not experiencing these problems relate both to long-standing hospital policy and to the growth and comparative affluence of the community it serves.

Hospitals across the country have recently been hit hard by Medicare's introduction of fixed reimbursement rates for various diagnoses. Under this new policy, if a hospital can treat a patient for under what the federal government pays, it can keep the difference. But if treatment costs more, the hospital suffers the loss.

Also, Medicare has sent Peer Review Organizations (PROs) throughout the nation to examine hospital practices with the aim of reducing costs. PROs look at what doctors are doing and how long their patients are staying in the hospital — and then disallow claims they consider excessive.

Should a PRO decide a patient should not have been admitted, or has remained too long, it can deny Medicare reimbursement.

About 40 percent of patients, both at Princeton Medical Center and nationally, are Medicare patients.

However, while Trenton hospitals are suffering because the PROs are demanding shorter hospital stays, Princeton, where shorter-than-average stays have historically been the norm, has hardly been affected by the monitoring process.

Six vs. Ten Days. In 1974, the average length of stay in Princeton was 6.0 days; in Trenton, it was 10 days.

The Medicare pay-by-diagnosis policy is similar to New Jersey's Diagnostic Related Group (DRG), a program pioneered in the state in 1980. Princeton was one of the first to institute it.

DRG, like the new Medicare payment schedule, is an incentive plan that was designed to reduce admissions and encourage shorter stays.

However, if a hospital is already experiencing shorter-than-average stays, it will not be adversely affected by a policy that pays for treatment on the basis, at least in part, of such stays. Indeed, it may profit.

If an illness is diagnosed at a $2400 figure, but the patient's bill, largely because his stay is short, is only $1,400, the hospital will receive the full $2400, the fixed reimbursement rate for that particular diagnosis.

Trenton Suffers. Also, Trenton has suffered the effects of the change in Medicare payment, while Princeton hasn't, because the city's hospitals serve a different population — one on the whole less affluent and prey to other problems that undermine health.

Princeton and surrounding communities also offer a much stronger and broader range of support services for recuperating patients, enabling them to leave the hospital sooner.

Trenton not only does not have a breadth of support services, but a hospital there might be faced with discharging a recently ill person to housing that is barely suitable to someone in good health.

Thus, Trenton hospitals have been unable to reduce their length of stay to the figure enjoyed by Princeton, although there has been some reduction.

The most recent available figures put the average Trenton length of stay at seven-and-a-half to eight days, while Princeton's is five days, considerably below the national average.

But there are further reasons for the trend to empty hospital beds and closed wards.

Princeton — well ahead of the national trend in this direction — has diversified in-

Linear Accelerator at PMC

Princeton Medical Center has recently applied to the State of New Jersey for permission to install a linear accelerator for the treatment of cancer patients. The hospital is planning to request permission from the Princeton Regional Planning Board to construct a one-story building to house the unit.

The linear accelerator was called "the state of the art in radiation therapy" by Medical Center President Dennis Doody, who said the hospital would like to make it available in Princeton. The $1 million unit, which enables the focus of radiation therapy to be more specific and avoids damage to other tissues, is currently available at St. Francis Medical Center in Trenton and St. Peter's Medical Center in New Brunswick.

The unit must be housed in a separate building, which will cost approximately $1.5 million to construct. It will probably be attached to the ground floor of the J building, with its own entrance close to the driveway.

Mr. Doody said he hopes that the State will provide a loan for the purchase and installation of the linear accelerator.

DAY CAMP PLANNED

For Young Thespians. Off-Broadstreet Theatre in Hopewell is opening a Summer Theatre Arts Camp for students age six through 16 who are interested in developing a strong theatre background, expanding their talents, and discovering new abilities. Robert Thick, Off-Broadstreet producer, is director.

The summer day camp will run for four weeks, July 8 to August 1, with half-day sessions from 9:30 to 1:30 Monday through Friday. The camp will provide an exposure to theatre arts including acting, dance, voice, stage crafts and theatre specialities.

In addition to regular classes, guest artists will be brought in, and students will attend, free of charge, a show from Off-Broadstreet's children's classic series. Camp will conclude with a "camp show" open to the public, family and friends.

Off-Broadstreet Theatre is now registering students between 10 and 4, Tuesday through Friday, at the theatre located at 5 South Greenwood Avenue, Hopewell, 466-2766.

TWO FILMS PLANNED

At Rocky Hill Library. The Mary Jacobs Library in Rocky Hill will present the films Rappacini's Daughter and The Lottery on Thursday, May 23 at 7:30 p.m. Both films, adaptations of classic stories, have themes depicting the darker side of human nature.

Rappacini's Daughter, by Nathaniel Hawthorne, tells the story of the scientist Dr. Rappacini who cultivates his daughter Beatrice as he does his poisonous flowers. When young Giovanni falls in love with Beatrice, the doctor's horrifying secret is revealed.

The Lottery, by Shirley Jackson, is a chilling story of the spring ritual observed in a small American town. The winner of the lottery becomes the town's annual human sacrifice.

REGISTRATION DUE

For MCCC Workshop. For teens interested in summer experience in the arts, applications are due on June 1 for the 13th annual Tomato Patch Workshop at Mercer County Community College. Mercer offers the interdisciplinary fine arts workshops to junior and senior high students who have studied any one of the visual or performing arts.

Participants select a major in dance, drama, music or art, and also choose from a variety of classes in other disciplines to expand their artistic skills and awareness. Classes run from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Thursday.

For students entering grades nine through 12 or higher, Tomato Patch begins Monday, June 24, and ends with a Weekend Festival of Arts on Friday, July 12 at 7:30 p.m., and Saturday, July 13, at noon. For those entering grades seven and eight, the workshops start on Monday, July 15, and end with a festival on Friday, August 2, at 7:30 p.m., and Saturday, August 3, at noon.

Tuition for each three-week session is $165 plus a $10 nonrefundable application fee. Some scholarships are provided by the Mercer County Cultural and Heritage Commission.

For information or applications, call 586-4800, ext. 581.

AUDITIONS PLANNED

By Franklin Theatre Group. Auditions will be held at the Franklin Villagers Barn Theatre, Somerset, for Hobeas Corpus, a farce directed by Pat Arvonio. The play will be performed weekends August 2-31.

Audition dates are Tuesday and Wednesday, May 28 and 29, at 8 p.m., with callbacks set for Sunday, June 2.

Needed are four men who can play 45-50 year olds; two men who can play 25-30 year olds; three women who can play 45-50 year olds; and two women who can play 25-30 year olds.

also needed are technical crew, who are asked to leave name and phone number at (201) 873-2710.

Those interested in directing future productions are asked to send resumes to The Villagers, PO Box 175, Somerset 08873.

The Franklin Villagers Barn theatre is located on DeMott Lane, behind the Franklin Township Municipal Building, in Somerset.

BENEFIT PERFORMANCE

By Ballet Workshop. The Aparri Ballet Workshop, performing wing of the Aparri School, will dance Sunday, June 2 at 3 p.m. at Princeton Country Day School gymnasium in a benefit performance for the Children's Unit, Helene Fuld Medical Center in Trenton.

Members will appear in Dancing Princesses, Backstoge, and Ballet School, as well as a solo to Ravel's Bolero, and a new dance, The Missing Children.

The Nina Youshkevitch Ballet Workshop from New York will be the guest artists, presenting numbers from The Bartered Bride and The Sleeping Beauty.

Tickets will be sold at the door, and are $5 for adults and $3 for children.

'REEFER MADNESS' DUE

As Cult Film Showing. Reefer Madness, a camp film classic about a generation gone mad, will be shown Friday at 9 p.m. at the Art People Place.

Reefer Madness was made during the 1930's in a semi-documentary style that was supposed to instruct America about the dangers of "killer weed." Actually its sleaziness and naivete have made audiences howl with laughter. It will be shown with shorts.

The last film of the series, Shock Corridor, will be shown June 7. It was directed by cult favorite, Sam Fuller.

Admission is $3. For more information call 921-3639.

CHILDREN'S CLASSICS

To Continue. Four additional productions of the series of children's classics at Off-Broadstreet Theatre in Hopewell have been scheduled for the summer months.

Rapunzel will be featured on May 24 and 25; followed by Jack and the Beanstalk, June 21 and 22; Rumpelstiltskin on July 19 and 20; and closing

MUSIC

TWO SOLOISTS SET

For PHS Orchestra Concert. The Bruch Violin Concerto and Mozart's Piano Concerto in B Flat, K. 450, will be featured on the Princeton High School Orchestra's annual Spring Concert on Wednesday, May 29, at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium. Tickets at $1 will be available at the door or in advance from orchestra members.

Ariela Rosenblum, concertmaster of the PHSO, will be the soloist in the Bruch concerto. Miss Rosenblum was recently awarded the annual scholarship of the Music Club of Princeton, and will attend Indiana University next fall. Freshman pianist Serena Volpp will be heard in the Mozart concerto. Miss Volpp was heard last month with the PHSO on a Meadow Lakes Forum concert in Hightstown.

Schubert's Symphony No. 1 in D Major (first movement) and a contemporary work by Vaclav Nelhybel will also be on the program.

The String Orchestra class will perform the Pachelbel Canon, and all 87 members of the full orchestra will join together to conclude the evening with the Slavonic Dance No. 8 by Dvorak.

The concert will be directed by Portia Sonnenfeld.

TROMBONE AND TAPE

In Concert. Two Australians, Simone de Haan, trombonist, and Graham Hair, pianist, will present a concert of contemporary music featuring the trombone with tape, multiple keyboards and improvisations, on Wednesday, May 29 at 8:30 at Woolworth Center.

Composers represented in the concert will be Rene Leibowitz, Martin Wesley-Smith, Albert Mengelsdorff, Mel Powell, Graham Hair, Dan Senn, Matt Kriesberg and Luciano Berio.

A native of Perth, Simone de Haan held principal trombone positions with several Australian orchestras before winning a Churchill Fellowship to study in London with Denis Wick and in Paris with Jean Douay in 1975. Mr. de Haan was chairman of the brass department at the Queensland Conservatorium and later trombone lecturer at the Canberra School of Music, before leaving Australia to work as a freelance player in Amsterdam in 1984. He has commissioned and premiered many new works by composers from Europe and the U.S., as well as Australia, and some of these works will be heard for the first time an Wednesday's program.

Composer-pianist Graham Hair lives in Sydney where he is head of the Composition School of the Conservatorium. He is currently a visiting professor in the Music Department at Princeton. Mr. Hair was educated in Australia, the U.S., France and England, where his most extensive compositian studies were with Peter Maxwell Davies.

Sponsored by the Friends of Music, the concert is free.

ENSEMBLE TO PLAY

In Richardson, Compass, a student new-music ensemble at Princeton University, will present its first concert on Friday at 8:30 in Richardson Auditorium.

A largely undergraduate group, dedicated to exploring a wide variety of contemporary music, Compass will offer an eclectic program that will range from Steve Reich's Octet, a characteristically hypnotic Reichian work for two pianos, winds, and strings, to John Zorn's Cobra, a piece for any large ensemble requiring players to impravise upon, and determine the order of, a series of verbal commands.

The concert also features performances of Charles Ives' The Unanswered Question, Pauline Oliveros' Sonic Meditation No. 1, and an unusual choral work, Sploys, by Mark Nelson. Unarthodox use of the recently renovated Richardson Auditorium will mark the performance of these latter pieces, as players will be situated in various off-stage portians of the hall, and audience members will be invited to sit an stage.

Admission is free: students, area new-music enthusiasts, and all other interested and/or curious folk are welcome and encouraged to attend.

GROUP TO PERFORM LIVE

Drongos at Shopping Center. The Drongos, a rock group originally from New Zealand, will perform live Saturday at 1 in front of the Music Cellar in the Princeton Shopping Center. Their appearance, sponsored by Proteus Records, The Music Cellar and Princeton Shopping Center is free and open to the public.

The Drongos currently live in New York City where their second album was recorded live on the streets of New York. They will perform one of their "street sets" at the Shopping Center. A street set with Paul Schaeffer of the David Letterman show has been filmed by MTV and will be shown Sunday.

Following their performance at the Shopping Center Saturday, The Drongos will autograph their albums in the Music Celler where a limited number of free albums and cassettes will be given away.

PIANO RECITAL SET

At Choir College. Westminster conservatory pianist Peter Lauffer will present a recital of classic and modern piano works Sunday at 4 p.m. in the Playhouse on the Westminster Chair College campus. There is no admission charge.

The program will include the three movements of Mozart's Sonata in F Major, K. 533, followed by a contemparary work, Stern Reisen (Star Travel) composed by Adrian Valosin. Mr. Lauffer will also perform two works by French composer Maurice Ravel, Brahms' Variations on a Theme by Paganini, a sampling of Chopin's Etudes and Mazurkas.

Peter Lauffer made his area debut in 1973 with the Trenton Symphony Orchestra. A graduate of Indiana University School of music, he has taught at the Westminster Conservatory since 1979 while continuing a busy performance schedule throughout the tri-state area. A native of Lawrenceville, Mr. Lauffer frequently appears with his wife, Marianne Lauffer, in duo-piano events.

For more information call 921-7104.

Orchestra Auditions Set

Auditians for membership in the Mercer County Symphonic Orchestra will be held on Monday, June 3, from 6 to 9 p.m. at the Music House at The Lawrenceville School.

Although young people playing all orchestral instruments are welcome, there is a special call for bassoons, string bass, French horns, and all brass and percussian.

Schalarships are available. For an audition appointment call Evelyn Krosnick, MCSO manager, at 683-0777, or write to MCSO, Box 6641, Lawrenceville, N.J. 08648.

MCSO is a 70-piece youth orchestra and draws its members from more than 25 high schools and colleges in the Delaware Valley. The orchestra currently is in its 24th season. Under the baton of Matteo Giammario, MCSO performs four concerts a year, as well as chamber music.

IT'S NEW TO US

AFTER THOMAS SWEET...

...Thomas Eats. What do New Haven, Georgetown, New Hope, Puerto Rico, Berkeley, New Brunswick, College Station, Texas, and Princeton all have in common? Thomas Sweet of course! Princeton has something extra — a new Thomas Eats, which opened here with great fanfare on Sunday evening. Located behind the now-famous ice cream and chocolate candy shop, where La Cuisine operated successfully for many years, the new eatery offers Princeton delicious deli-style sandwiches and "smoothies" to go, plus a selection of sumptuous cookies made daily on the premises.

The two Thomases, partners Thomas Grim and Thomas Block, who began their burgeoning business only five years ago, handed out free sandwiches and cookies on Sunday evening between 6 and 9 as a way of saying thank you to the town which has given them such encouragement and patronage since they brought their home-cooked fudge and delicious chocolates to Princeton.

"Princeton has taken us under its wing; the support which we receive from our customers, the students from the University, and the high school kids who help us in the store is just incredible. It makes it so much fun to work here," says the young manager Kent Mezaros, who is also in charge of marketing and retail expansion. Mr. Mezaros became familiar with the ever-expanding company while working at Thomas Sweet in New Brunswick — one of his favorite shops and the first franchise to open.

"There was a huge line outside the door as soon as we hung the sign up and it continues today," continues Mr. Mezaros, who graduated from Rutgers two years ago. He and Thomas or "Teddy" Grim did considerable research at famous delis in New York, such as the Stage and the Carnegie Deli, to sample the best combinations of sandwiches available.

A Great Product. "As in our candy business, the key to success is to hand out a great product. We have researched the best quality meats, cheeses, and breads and we think we have them. Everything will be kept absolutely fresh under a large steam table, and our customers can watch while their sandwiches are being made," says the manager who doubles as the cookie chef. He made 50 pounds of cookies to hand out last Sunday and has an order from the Class of 1987 for 200 to 300 pounds of fresh cookies during study break! The deli sandwiches can be ordered by phone for a quick take-out, but most people will prefer to laze on the grass or sit at the picnic tables in front of the stores enjoying the newest tastes in town.

In Princeton at night, the only sign of activity is often the bustle in Thomas Sweet, which stays open until midnight on weekends. It has become a familiar and friendly outpost, as will Thomas Eats, which will be open from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Sandwiches and drinks will be half-price through this week. The "smoothie," a delicious mixture of fruits, with or without ice cream and milk, hails from California. They are refreshing, tasty and healthy according to the Thomases.

Sandwiches will range from pastrami, roast beef, turkey breast, kosher salami, and Virginia ham combined with American and several other cheeses, to an excellent veggie spread served on rye, pumpernickel, bagels and onion or plain rolls.

For Cookie Lovers. There is good news for the consummate cookie-lover. A new type of cookie is now available in town, similar to the famous Mrs. Field's but made with Thomas Sweet's own chocolate. Chewy and scrumptious, the cookies will be served alongside the sandwiches in the newly renovated kitchen. The paint is Hamilton blue and white, and matches the original tile flooring. Varieties of cookies priced at $4.95 a pound include chewy chocolate chip, oatmeal and raisin, walnut or pecan chocolate chip, chocolate chocolate chip, coconut, and peanut butter chocolate chip.

Thomas Sweet Chocolates Inc. is venturing into still another aspect of the catering business — that of ice cream cakes and pies to be ordered and sold at the store. Crushed cookies or a chocolate crunch will provide a crust for any combination of the store's ice cream to be decorated for every occasion.

"We have had calls daily requesting specialty cakes, so we thought we would try to provide them," explains Mr. Mezaros, who is considering a delivery service in the fall. He and his staff welcome suggestions from customers. They are anxious to meet the needs of the community which appears delighted to have another option for lunch, supper, or a late-night snack.

MAILING MADE EASY

By Princeton Mail Service. Two enterprising young sisters who, despite their youth, have had a variety of interesting and successful business experiences, have brought a highly personalized service to Princeton which accommodates not only townspeople but business people who live as far away as the middle east.

Darcy Soleil and her sister, Ellen Carangi, operate much more than a postal service which wraps and sends packages and business parcels all over the world. The Princeton Mail Service, in the Princeton Shopping Center, offers a variety of convenient services to its customers, including individual post box rental, forwarding mail, receiving mail and packages, and a 24-hour personal phone answering service.

"The concept of a private postal service has been around for hundreds of years. I first became acquainted with them in London, where there are several, and more recently in California while visiting friends who run one. After considerable market research I felt we could fill a gap in Princeton and provide services which just didn't exist here," says the energetic Miss Soleil, who opened the service in December 1983. Since then her list of commercial clients, small business and corporate accounts has grown steadily.

The prestige of a Princeton address has been a draw for many of Miss Soleil's clients, who have rented post boxes in the small office decorated in a high-tech blue. Princeton Mail service will receive and forward their mail, as well as answer business phone calls, for only $15 per month, and in a more personal way than most answering services can. Miss Soleil has been known to sew up a deal or two for her clients who might be out of town! One such example was a book distributorship with a Japanese client who called. She negotiated the contract.

Time is Money. The convenience of a private mail service is hard to beat when time is the most valuable commodity. Services here include shipping via UPS, Federal Express, or Purolator Courier; taping, labeling and packing parcels which are automatically insured for up to $100, and recorded with a written receipt; same-day service to most major cities; express service for second-day or next-day delivery; and monthly billing for frequent accounts. The Princeton Mail service is conveniently open on weekdays and Saturdays until 6 p.m.

"We provide so many services which the post office just cannot offer. It is a service designed to meet the needs of people who are busy, people who travel and don't want their mail hanging around, and even for commuters who can't get home in time to pick up their mail — which happened to me when I was living in Princeton Meadows and commuting to New York," explains Miss Soleil. Her service has several clients who do not keep offices in town, and may even live out of the country.

Darcy Soleil brings a keen sense of the needs of a business person to her new enterprise — one of several she has spearheaded in her brief career. After studying piano at Temple University, Miss Soleil left the musician's world to learn the art of gem cutting and diamond dealing, which led her into her own jewelry business. She later worked as an insurance broker, designing pension plans and consulting for small businesses. She also managed a rock group for a while.

This young entreprenueur clearly enjoys the many diverse aspects of the buisness world and continues to design systems manuals, consults in buying and planning, as well as managing another business which handles copyrights for artistic tee-shirts! Her sister Ellen, whom she finally convinced to move to Princeton from North Carolina, has an equally interesting background in business, fund-raising and the non-profit world. They work well together and appear to have a lot of fun while keeping up with the heavy packing load which comes in each day. A huge balloon-like dispenser hanging behind the desk emits peanut-shaped styrofoam to protect shipping items.

Princeton Mail Service, which puts its greatest emphasis on privacy and discretion for its clients, also sells a complete line of shipping and packing supplies, such as cartons, mailers, tape and cushioning materials. In fact, the only thing one really has to bring into the office is the item to be mailed!

"People will mail anything. We've shipped precious porcelains, computers, frozen geese shot at Christmas time, skis, hockey sticks and appliances. Many customers send their suitcases ahead," says Miss Carangi. One of the strangest requests to ship has been an old shoe and a cup! The young women did not ask why, in keeping with their policy of privacy.

"I enjoy this business. It runs itself well and even during Christmas we had no major problems or damage. Princeton people keep telling us that they are happy we are here, so we intend to continue to be a totally service-oriented and reliable concern for them," Darcy Soleil concludes. If the customers interviewed are any indication, Princeton Mail Service seems to be on the right track.

—Susan Trowbridge

PRESTIGIOUS PACKING: Princeton Mail Service offers a variety of shipping services to individuals, small businesses, even clients who live out of the country. Darcy Soleil and her sister, Ellen Carangi, offer same-day and next-day service, packing, receiving, shipping, and personalized telephone answering.

ART

NATURE CELEBRATED

In Fine Detail. Bird watchers and outdoors enthusiasts should enjoy the current exhibition at the AT&T Gallery. Carol Decker's exquisitely detailed studeis of woodland wildlife belong to the John James Audubon and Roger Tory Peterson school of painting.

Working both from many hours of on-the-spot field studies as well as preserved museum specimens, the artist has recreated the habitats of a variety of game and water birds, forest animals, turtles and even a few fish.

The brushwork is remarkably fine — every hair, claw and feather recreated with the utmost fidelity — yet the works are not photographic. The subjects are grouped for esthetics as well as accuracy.

The most dramatic — and effective — are those with the barest minimum of background detail — just the essentials to set the animal's natural habitat: a log, a few blades of grass, a tree branch. In many of these acrylics, meticulously described scenes shade off into infinity.

Fnr the most part these are the artist's earlier works, from the 1970's. In the last few years the studies have become border-to-border studies with fully realized backgrounds. These are not nearly so artistically successful as the earlier works. The animals must nnw compete with the backgrounds for attention — and in almost every case the animal loses.

The difference can be seen by comparing three owl studies. The two earlier ones, "Great Horned Owl Starting a Family" and "Mouser," a screech owl holding its limp quarry in its beak, are vividly detailed against a stark white background.

"Love Story," on the other hand, depicts owls as well (one of which has also bagged a mouse), but the composition is ordinary. The background in this later work is excessively intrusive.

The artist has an unfortunate tendency to "tell a story" or affix a "cute" title to some of her works, reminiscent of Norman Rockwell's Saturday Evening Post covers. Occasionally, the comment is wry enough to border on success. "Fishing Hole," for instance, is a study of a blue and white kingfisher perched atop a newly budding branch. In his beak is a freshly caught fish. Hung on a branch below is a fisherman's bob dangling an empty hook.

Accompanying these nature studies are several stone sculptures by Rudi Stumpf. There is a pleasing solidity about these works, mostly of eskimos and the animals that inhabit their northern environment. Especially effective are a huddled line of Inuits — acutally three sculptures placed end to end — and a roughly hewn polar bear hiding his face behind massive paws.

Mountain Studies. Behind the elaborately installed Raphael portrait at the Princeton University Art Museum is a fine series of pencil studies executed well over a century ago by John Casilear (1811-1893) and a few of his contemporaries.

These modest little drawings of New Hampshire's White Mountains could easily be overlooked because of their more celebrated nieghbor, but it would be a pity.

Even though these "fieldside" sketches were meant to be used for later, more polished oil paintings, everything necessary is already here — and there's not an extraneous note anywhere.

The backdrops are identical — buff colored paper of the same hue as a grocery bag — and provide the basic ground. Peneil strokes are meticulously rendered. The artist knows exactly when to stop — when he's said everything necessary to set the scene.

White highlights create dustings of snow on distant mountain faces and create dimension by accenting foreground details.

Many of these studies are exceptionally subtle in their detail; others are quite dramatic. "White Mountain Notch" illuminates a river forcing its way through rocky piles

Clubs and Organizations

The Princeton Women's Spirituality Group and the NOW N.J. Task Force on Women and Religion are co-sponsoring a conference on women's spirituality entitled Image: Woman, on Saturday, May 25, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Unitarian Church.

The program will feature The Emerging Goddesses, an audio-visual production by Joan Delaney Grant of Washington, D.C., which presents representations of the feminine aspects of the divine depicted mythically, religiously, culturally and artistically. Also included will be The Third Stage, an original theater piece on the subject of women aging; a women's ceremony; and group discussion.

Participants are asked to bring lunch; a $5 donation is requested. For further information, call 921-8332.

The Friends of the West Windsor Library will sponsor a concert to benefit the library on June 2 at 4 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church, Dutch Neck. Proceeds will be used to supplement the library's music, literature, and other programs.

A reception will follow the program. Tickets are $6 per person or $10 per family and are available through the West Windsor Library. For further information, call the library at 799-0462.

PLANNING "IMAGE: WOMAN," a conference on women's spirituality, are (l. to r.) Frances Benson, Trudy Kramer and Anne Dimock. The conference, co-sponsored by the Princeton Women's Spirituality Group and the NOW N.J. Task Force on Women and Religion, will be held Saturday, May 25, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Unitarian Church.

Plainsboro-West Windsor Veterans of Foreign Wars Memorial Post 925 recently presented the Twin "W" Rescue Squad with an American flag to unfurl from the steel flag pole that the organization had previously donated to the squad.

The Woman's Club of Princeton, Inc. will celebrate its 25th anniversary Thursday at the Nassau Inn. Cocktails will begin at 11:30, followed by luncheon. Reservations at $15 per person may be made by calling 921-2164 or 452-1236.

Art in Princeton

of boulders. Tiny trees struggle out of minute seams in the rocks to find life.

In "Waterfall Franconia Mountains" the eye is immediately drawn into the action of the frothy water which is splashed generously with white highlights. The upper details — trees, branches, rocks — are barely outlined.

Fine Prints. Four notable contemporary artists are represented in the current exhibition at the Princeton Gallery of Fine Art through the end of the month. Robert Motherwell, probably best known for his prolific and usually monumentally scaled series of abstract "Elegies" — ovoid shapes held in space by vertical masses — is represented here by four less generously-scaled prints.

Only one specifically recalls the Elegy series. "Elegy Black Black" retains the signature black ovoids and rectangles on white space. "Glass Garden" is also a black/white study but the brush strokes and splatters are more suggestive of Chinese calligraphy. The calligraphic motif is even more apparent in "Australian Stone."

Motherwell's most linear work is "La Casa de la Mancha," a study in black on orange that creates an architectural balance of line and shape and color.

David Hockney's contributions are a series of sketches that catch his female subjects in everyday activities — combing their hair, adjusting an eyelash. The style is off-hand, expressionistic. Brush strokes are applied almost dry and there is no background except the white paper. These are not formal portraits, but the witty glances are filled with sly detail.

The William Burroughs portrait is done in a tighter, less expressionistic style, but again is marked by a minimum of excess detail.

Howard Hodgkin is less easy to get hold of. His abstract works begin with a place, a time, an experience, as can be noted by the ambiguous titles: "Here We Are in Croyden," "Nick's Room," "Little Lotus." But all figurative reference has been obliterated and the viewer is left to decipher a series of blotches, squiggles, frames within frames, by bringing to the experience much of his own memory baggage.

The artist's jewel-like colors, especially in "Croyden," Nick's Room," and "A Storm," will evoke the most immediate response.

DAY IN NEW YORK

Planned by PAA. A visit to galleries and museums in New York City has been scheduled by the Princeton Art Association for Friday, May 31.

The bus will make stops at four places along Fifth Avenue. Stops will be convenient to many galleries and to the Whitney Museum, the Metropolitan, the Museum of Modern Art, and the Guggenheim.

Cost is $12 for members and $15 for non-members. For reservations or further information, call the Princeton Art Association at 921-9173.

EXHIBITS

The 1985 Princeton Day School student art exhibit is on display at the Anne Reid Gallery at the school. Hours are Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., weekends by appointment, through the end of the school year.

An opening reception will be held for the second in this year's "Sixteen Artists '85" series at Ellarslie, the Trenton City Museum, on Saturday, June 1. Hours are 7 to 9 p.m. and the public is invited.

The exhibit will include works by Princeton artists Adrienne Hauben, Betty Jane Lee, and Jeanne Pasley Messer, and by Gary Saretzky of Lawrenceville. It will be on view through June 25.

For further information, call Museum Director Ben Whitmire at 989-3632.

Medical Center

to longer term care, such as psychiatric, rehabilitative, and home care, said Dennis Doody, president of Princeton Medical Center.

"We made certain the patient did not stay an unnecessary amount of time and was able, if necessary, to move to a less expensive facility," he said. These other facilities, such as Princeton House and Merwick, run half the cost of hospital care.

Less Expensive Facilities. Thus, if a hospital is paid on the basis of diagnosis, and the patient can be moved to a less expensive facility to receive necessary treatment, the amount of payment received by the hospital would be more likely to meet, or even exceed, the actual cost of treatment.

Mr. Doody also noted that the medical center has never built lots of in-patient beds. "The average number of beds for a hospital serving our size region is 300; we're 250."

The four Trenton-area hospitals, some of which have undergone fairly recent expansion, have a total of about 1200 beds.

The Medical Center serves a ten-mile radius around Princeton, including South Brunswick, West Windsor, East Windsor, Plainsboro, Cranbury, Lawrence, Monroe Township, Pennington, Hopewell, Rocky Hill, Montgomery Township, and lower Franklin Township.

Eighty-two percent of its patients live outside Princeton Borough and Township.

Corporations Watchful. The national drop in hospital admissions and in days stayed can also be traced to the fact that most large corporations, faced with the rising cost of health care, are very watchful of all claims. Many have hired consultants to go over costs, and some have contracted with peer review organizations to review employee hospital admissions.

Also, payers of health care — whether they be insurance companies, the government, or individuals — are demanding lower-priced care.

In response to these forces, physicians are doing more and more in-office procedures. The same-day surgery suite under construction in the new Medical Arts Building on Witherspoon Street and Birch Avenue is yet another response to the demand for reduced admissions and shorter stays. The 10,000 square foot surgery suite is expected to open by January 1.

Two of the four floors in the Medical Arts building will house physicans' offices. The medical center's accounting and data processing departments will utilize the below-ground floor, and the same-day surgery suite will take up the final full floor.

Area Population Growth. The region served by Princeton Medical Center is booming. Although residential building has not reached the pace of office construction, there has been a growth in such development. And more housing will be built as additional workers are brought into the area.

Given this boom, the medical center might have begun building new facilities to serve the area's growing population. But the array of constraints resulting in reduced use of hospital beds has also served to discourage any surge of new expansion.

Nineteen eighty-four saw 90 percent occupancy at Princeton Hospital, a figure high enough to warrant the possibility of adding beds, even in the face of national trends. However, says Mr Doody, the hospital is moving carefully in this direction, and, with all the forces presently at work, growth will be slow.

It has been six years since the last 30-bed expansion. Prior to that, 30 beds were added in 1968.

But before planning a new addition, which would add another floor to the "J" building, the hospital wants to check out the occupancy rate for the first six months of this year, measure the effects of the same-day surgery center, and examine the impact of any changes in demographics.

"We don't want to overbuild and be in the position Trenton is today," said Mr. Doody.

Workshop This Wednesday

The workshop on "What Every Woman Should Know About Breast Cancer" will be held this Wednesday, May 22, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m at the YWCA.

Panelists include Dr. James B. Hastings, surgeon; Dr. John S Sierocki, oncologist; and the Rev. Carol Brandt, minister, counselor and breast cancer patient. The program is presented without charge as a community service by ENCORE, the YWCA's post-mastectomy exercise and discussion program, recently redesigned to include information and support services for women before and after breast cancer treatment.

The date of the workshop was incorrectly given in last week's TOWN TOPICS.

Tigers Defeat Harvard, 5-3, for first EIBL Title Since 1953; Begin Play Friday in Miami in NCAA Regional Tournament

The Princeton baseball team defeated Harvard, 5-3, last Saturday on Yale Field in a playoff for the Eastern Baseball League title, winning the championship for the first time since 1953.

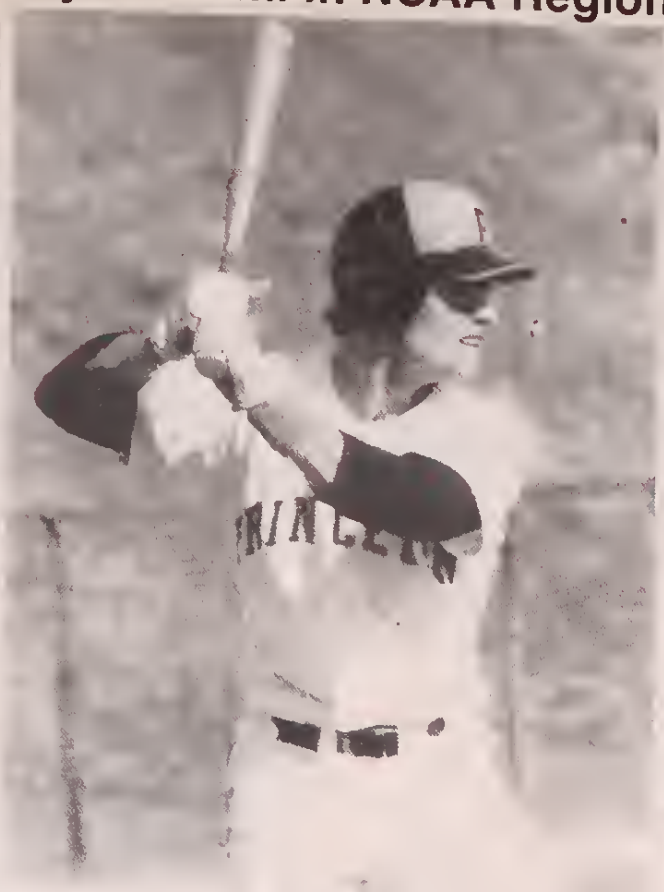
Harvard, the league champion the past two seasons, had never previously lost a title playoff game. The Crimson defeated Princeton in 1974 in a playoff, the only time in the last 33 years the Tigers have finished first.

With the triumph, Princeton has qualified for the NCAA tournament, and will begin double elimination play this Friday night against Miami in Miami. Other teams in the Atlantic Region tournament are Virginia and the University of Florida.

The winner will advance to the College World Series in Omaha, Nebraska. Play will begin there on May 31.

Stratton's Superb Catch. The play that sealed the victory was made in the top of the eighth inning by rightfielder Drew Stratton, with Princeton leading 3-1. Harvard had men on first and second and none out, and clean-up hitter Elliott Rivera at bat.

He sent a Mike Fiala fastball into the gap in right-center, and the only question was whether he would get three or four bases. With the ball tailing away from him, Stratton took off in pursuit, and at the last minute made a desperate lunge, catching the ball in the top of his glove.



Drew Stratton
His catch soved the day.

His throw back to the infield enabled shortstop Todd Leavitt to complete an easy double play, and the Tigers were out of the inning. They promptly locked up the contest with two insurance runs in their half of the eighth.

Scott LaForest started for the Orange and Black and pitched into the seventh before tiring. He gave up just one run in the sixth, and he and Fiala, allowed just four hits between them.

Meanwhile, the Tigers, who had acted like pussycats when facing Harvard pitcher Jeff Musselman here in April in a 3-2 loss, knocked out 15 hits. If a couple of them had been more timely, this contest might have been over a lot earlier.

As it was, O'Connell's men had only a 1-0 lead through the first four innings. That run came in the third when Tom Urquhart scored from third with Marc Goldenberg in the middle of a rundown between first and second.

The Tigers didn't score again until the fifth when Goldenberg's double scored Marc Leavitt, who had beaten out a high bouncer to short. Harvard narrowed the gap to 2-1 in the sixth, but an RBI single by Stratton in the seventh made it 3-1.

In the eighth Goldenberg and Urquhart, who led the Orange and Black with three hits apiece, delivered singles to drive in two more runs. Fiala survived some sloppy play behind him in the ninth to lock up the victory for LaForest, his ninth without a loss this season.

PDS VS. KENT PLACE

For Prep Lacrosse Title. The season for the Princeton Day girls lacrosse team has come down to just one game: a rematch with Kent Place at Rutgers Prep this Wednesday for the State Prep Title. A victory would enable the Panthers to finish with a perfect 15-0 mark.

The Blue and White won the previous meeting between the two, 18-8, last month, and coach Kim Bedesem's team is expected to dominate this contest as well.

In quarterfinal and semifinal rounds played earlier, PDS destroyed Pingry, 22-1, and Dwight-Englewood, 23-3. Dwight-Englewood, which visited PDS this past Monday, gave the Panthers a battle for the first half and then collapsed. It managed to tie PDS 2-2 in the early going, and was behind by only 7-2 at the half.

After the intermission, however, PDS outscored its north Jersey opponent, 16-1. Birgit Enstrom led all scorers with six goals, followed by Karen Callaway with four, Tania Schoennagel, three, Scottie King, Becca Royal, Robin Trend and Laura Heins, two apiece and Maya Bermingham and Kelly Noonan, one each.

Pingry Blown Away. When the coach has trouble remembering the final score, and all the players who scored, you can imagine how one-sided the score was. Bedesem knows PDS blew Pingry away on Friday, but she can't recall if the score was 22-1 or 23-1.

There was hardly much point in continuing the contest after the first few minutes of the first half, but since it couldn't be stopped, Bedesem switched her offensive and defensive players. Goalie Jen Bonini, Royal, Anna Barrows, Bermingham, Becca Sugerman, Robin Cook, and Betsy Jaffee all moved up to offensive positions, and all responded with at least one goal. Jaffee had two.

King Enstrom, Callaway, Schoennagel and Trend played defense, and all had at least two goals.

Last week against Hun, Bedesem should have not only switched her girls on offense and defense, but tied their feet together as well. PDS won 31-7, with Callaway and Enstrom scoring eight goals apiece.

HUN NINE DENIED

Two Game Win Streak. After his team had defeated Morrisville last week for only its second win of a long season, Hun baseball coach Bill McQuade said the Raiders hoped to put two wins back-to-back when it played Hopewell Valley High next. Like Hun, Hopewell has been struggling and had won only two games this spring.

But even such a modest goal was to be denied Hun in this year when nothing has gone right.

As have most of the teams who have handled Hun this season, Hopewell used the big inning to defeat Hun. It scored five in the third and then added three insurance runs in the next inning en route to an 8-2 victory.

The Bulldogs collected 11 hits off losing pitcher Drew Sigafoos, including three by DH Joe Clayton and two each by Dave Ryan, Tim Stevens and Brad Scheetz. Brian Usko, who limited Hun to five hits, got the win, his first in seven decisions.

Two of the five hits included a triple by Hun outfielder Rick Brenner and a double by first baseman Tony Martelloni.

Despite the 17th loss in 19 games, the Hun players have maintained their enthusiasm throughout the season. "The kids are still shouting and rooting for each other right down to the last inning. How can I get upset at that?" asked McQuade.

But enthusiasm alone does not win ball games. McQuade summed up Hun's plight on the diamond this year in one sentence when he observed, "We just don't have as much ability as the teams we've played."

Hun will play its final game of the season on Tuesday when it entertains Lawrence at 3:45.

PHS TOPS MONTCLAIR

In Girls Lacrosse. Sue Lofgren and Erika Gabrielsen combined for 11 goals last week to lead the Princeton High girls lacrosse team to a 15-7 victory over Montclair. It was the second victory this season over Montclair by the Little Tigers, who increased their record to 10-4.

Gabrielsen erupted for five of her six goals in the first half, which ended with PHS up, 7-5. Lofgren took over in the second half to lead an eight-goal rally by scoring three of her five goals. PHS goalie Liz O'Donoghue turned aside four shots on goal.

The Little Tigers will end their regular season Friday against undefeated Summit and will play a jayvee game the previous day against Hopewell Valley, which announced this month that it will compete on a varsity level in the sport next year. "One step closer," commented PHS coach Joyce Jones on hearing of Hopewell's decision, to the goal of a Colonial Valley Conference League in girls' lacrosse.

Boys' Game Called. The Princeton High boys lacrosse game Saturday with visiting Boonton was called at the end of three periods with PHS trailing, 11-2.

"The refereeing, in my opinion, was not very good," commented PHS coach Peter Larsen. "It was rough. They were letting things go and the game just got out of hand. We called it before someone got hurt."

PHS played the entire third period with a man down when Boonton scored six goals to none for PHS. Up to that point, the officials had whistled 20 penalties against PHS, sharp in contrast to the three against Boonton.

PHS will end its season on Thursday afternoon when it hosts Hunterdon Central at the John Witherspoon School field. It will be the second meeting this year between the two schools.

Tigers to Finish Sixth?

What do the Ivy Sports Information Directors know about football forecasting? If you're a Princeton fan, you better hope not much.

In their annual poll the eight SIDs picked the Tigers to finish in a tie for sixth place under new head coach Ron Rogerson. Penn, which received four first place votes, for a total of 10 points, was chosen to repeat as league champion.

Yale, which rebounded last season to finish 5-2 in the league, was picked first by three voters, and had 13 total points. The one other first-place selection went to Harvard, which finished third with 17.

The remaining five teams finished considerably behind in the balloting. Brown was fourth with 31 points, Dartmouth fifth, 33; Princeton and Cornell tied for sixth, 36; and the perennial cellar-dweller, Columbia last with 48.

In another football note, John Tagliaferri of Princeton Junction, a graduate of West Windsor-Plainsboro High School, has been elected co-captain of Cornell's 1985 squad.

The 5-11, 200-pound junior started at fullback and was the team's leading pass receiver with 30 catches for 266 yards.

Earlier in the week lost two more games, both by one-goal margins.

It was edged, 10-9, by Johnson Regional in overtime and, 7-6, by Montclair.

Hun vs. North Hunterdon. Eliminated 10-4 by Dwight-Englewood in the second round of the N.J. prep school state tournament, the Hun School boys' lacrosse team is still alive in the playoffs of the Garden State C League Tournament.

Hun will meet North Hunterdoo this Wednesday at North Hunterdon. The Raiders bowed 5-3, to the same team earlier this season, but Hun coach Dave Faus predicts his team will give Hunterdon a run for its money. "We're definitely in it, provided everyone gives a good performance," he said.

Hun ended its regular season with a satisfying 7-6 record, the first time in Faus's four-year tenure that the Raiders have finished above .500.

"It's a lot better than past years," noted Faus. "It's a start."

BOYS, GIRLS WIN

In Track. The Princeton High boys and girls track teams posted easy wins over Nottingham last week. The boys won, 89-41, and the girls, 73-49.

The girls will next compete in the NJSIAA Sectionals on Saturday at East Brunswick High. Qualifying for the state meet for the boys will be held on Wednesday with the Sectionals on Saturday. Both teams were scheduled to oppose Hopewell Valley High in a regular season dual meet earlier this week.

The boys captured every running event against Nottingham except for the two hurdles. Freddie Young won both the 100 and 200, and became a triple winner when he also finished first in the long jump. Moshe Toussaint won the 400 and Graham Trelstad the 800.

Nathaniel McVey-Finney claimed the 1600, Sean Nyhan the 3200, and Toussaint, Teweles, Bowers and Trelstad combined to take the 1600 relay in 3:50 flat. The North Stars were clocked in 3:51.6.

In field events, PHS won five of six. In addition to Young taking the long jump, Mike Riddick won the shot, Sandy Huffaker the javelin, Marshall Jensen the high jump and Chris Gross the pole vault. With the win, the Little Tigers extended their dual meet record to 5-3.

LACROSSE FINAL SET

For Saturday. If the Princeton Day boys' lacrosse team can defeat West Morris for a second time in a game scheduled to be played Tuesday, it will meet the winner of the Lawrenceville-Columbia game this Saturday at Fairlawn to determine the best team in the state.

The finals of the Coaches Tournament will be played at that time, and if all goes as expected, PDS and Lawrenceville will face each other again Saturday. However, Saturday's match-up may be the third meeting between the two this season.

Both teams are in the finals of the Prep Tournament as well, and they may decide to play a separate game on Thursday to determine the Prep Champion. This possibility was still to be worked out between the respective coaches .

Last week, the Panthers ran their winning streak to 14, and their season's record to 15-1 with victories over Montville and Delbarton. PDS coach Bob Krueger was pleased with his team's play in both games. "We've brought our level of play up a notch," he noted.

Both Jack Cook and Sean Fisher returned to action to bolster the team's play.

Against Montville at home last Wednesday, PDS gave up a goal in the first three minutes, but then scored the next five. By halftime, the Blue and White led 11-2, and Krueger substituted freely in the final two periods.

Tom Foster had three goals and two assists, Bill Noonan, two goals and two assists and Chris Gallup two goals to lead the attack. Eric Hovanec, Scott Miller, Eric Bylin, David Haynes, John DeRochi and Jack Cook added single tallies.

In Friday's game against Delbarton, PDS played some of its best lacrosse of the season in the second half. Leading by just a pair, 4-2, at the end of two periods, PDS outscored the home team, 6-2, in the second half for a 10-4 triumph.

"Delbarton was coming off three wins against tough opponents, and looking to end its season on a high note," Krueger commented. "All the ingredients were there for an upset, if we hadn't played well."

But, PDS rose to the challenge, especially in stopping Delbarton's 6'4, 220-pound attackman with just one goal. The losers also scored first against PDS, but tallies by Cook and Eric Bylin made it, 2-1, at the end of the first period. Delbarton scored quickly at the start of the second period to tie it at 2-2, but Foster and Bylin each scored to make it 4-2 at the half.

In the second half, Gallup scored twice, and Hovanec, Haynes, Miller, Foster and Miller, once to keep PDS comfortably ahead the rest of the way. Krueger cited the improved play of Hovanec, who he said "has emerged as a force on ground balls and in front of the net."

HOVANEC IN CONTROL: Senior midfielder Eric Hovanec has steadily improved this spring and become a major part of the Panthers' attack.

TIGERS FINISH SECOND

In IC4A Track. Leading after the first round in the IC4A track and field championships Saturday at Penn State, the Princetnn men had to settle for second place when the sawdust had settled Sunday.

George Mason University edged out the Tigers for the championship by two points, 56 to 54. Steve Morgan set a school and meet record in winning the 200-meter dash in 20.27. Morgan was second in the 100-meter dash in 10.32. On Saturday, he set another University mark in the 100, winning a qualifying heat in 10.26.

Princeton's Ross Sullivan was second in the pole vault at 16-8 and teammate Rob Ward finished fifth at 16-0. The 4x100 relay team, Joe Sinisi, Jim Anderson, Biff Jennings and Morgan, placed second behind Northeastern in 40.79.

FIVE RECORDS SET

In Junior Olympics. Five new records were set at the 14th annual AAU Junior Olympic Track and Field Meet held last week at the Princeton High School field. Winners will represent Princeton in the Junior Olympics District championships to be held June 1 at Princeton High School.

The annual event is sponsored by the Princeton Recreation Department. This year more than 150 children, ages 8 to 13, participated.

In the junior division (12-13) Erin Irving and John Burnett each won three gold medals. Burnett broke the triple jump record of 30-10½ set in 1974 with a leap of 32-7. He was also victorious in the 100 meter and running long jump.

Irving's three gold medals were in the 100 meter, 400 meter and mile. Aaron Burt finished first in the high jump and was a member of the winning relay team of Barry Phox, Dylan Penningroth and Ivar Raphael. Other gold medalists were Reuben Steiger, 400 meter; John Mayer, mile, and Seth Socolow, shot put.

In the midget division (10-11) Kelly Benke set a new record in the girls 800 meter with a time of 2:43.9. Lynn Livingston captured golds in the 50 and 100 meter dashes and was on the winning relay team of Lia Moore, Ashante Thompson and Jody Brandt. Brandt also won a gold in the running long jump.

Paul McLaughlin and Nicole Young triumphed in the high jump. Other gold medalists include Ernest Louis, 50 meter; Justin Bougher, 100; Damion Tucker, running long jump, and the relay team of Louis, Tucker, Brian Williams and Jean Cadstill. The best efforts in the shot were by Brian Williams (24-7) and Becky Dengeler, (18-2).

Three records were set in the 8-9 bantam division. Brooke Perone set a new standard in the 800 meter of 3:11.9 and Jamie Kaplan leaped 12-9½ to better the old running long jump mark by five inches. Both then teamed with Janel Malinowski and Ailey Penningroth to win the 440 relay. The latter also captured a gold in the 50 meter dash.

Judd O'Sullivan set a new record in the 800 meter run and won a second gold in the long jump. Benji Payme collected three firsts: 50 and 100 meter dashes and as a member of the relay team of Derick and Ricky Vernon and Marcus Johnson.

This year's recipient of the Tony Operman Memorial Award is Karen Swartz of Hibben Road. The award is presented to the one who best exemplifies the spirit and enthusiasm of Tony Opperman.

PHS NINE WINS AGAIN

Behind Tim Rumer. The Princeton High baseball team won its seventh game of the season Monday behind sophomore hurler Tim Rumer who owns four of those wins.

The Little Tigers, finally playing like coach Ed Beacham thought they would when the season began, received another strong pitching performance from Rumer in defeating visiting Hopewell Valley, 4-1.

Rumer cooled off the suddenly hot Bulldogs on six hits, striking out four. He threw only 98 pitches in contrast to the 135-140 he had been throwing in previous games, Beacham noted.

"He was around the plate all day — which is why he was hit," said Beacham. In his previous two starts, Rumer pitched a pair of two-hitters.

In the first inning, PHS scored a run on a leadoff single by Gavin Hulsman and an RBI single by Rumer. In the second, PHS scored three more times, as Rumer singled again and third-baseman Mike Petrone, the county's leading hitter, drove in a run with a sacrifice fly. Petrone, however, was held to no hits by Bulldog pitcher Brian Usko.

Rumer lost his shutout in the final inning when he issued one of his few walks and the baserunner later scored on a sacrifice

PHS collected eight hits, including two each by Hulsman and Rumer and a double by Eddie Eccles. PHS climbed to 7-10-1 with the win, while Hopewell fell to 4-15.

The game set a record for time, according to Beacham. It was over in 80 minutes. "I never saw such a quick game in my life," observed Beacham. "The parents were just starting to settle in when the game was over."

PHS will end its season at home on Thursday when it hosts West Windsor.

PHS NETMEN REPEAT

As Central Jersey Champions. It was close, but Princeton High's tennis team repeated as Central Jersey Group 3 champions when it edged Watchung Hills, 3-2, Monday. The triumph was the victors' 21st in 22 matches this season.

Bruce Ellis and Stig Leschly won in straight sets in singles play and the Little Tigers number one doubles of Matt Mack and Brett Van deBovenkamp triumphed, 6-0, 6-2. Visiting Watchung won the second doubles and the first singles when Princeton's top player, Mark Leschly defaulted.

In the CJ semi-finals, PHS blanked Franklin, 5-0, as Mark Leschly and Ellis both won, 6-1, 6-1, and Stig won, 6-1, 6-0.

Both doubles went three sets. Mack and Van deBovenkamp won 5-7, 6-2, 6-2, and Bill Berry and Deron Elliott also lost the first set 4-6 but came back to win the next two, 7-5, 7-5.

Earlier, PHS had blanked Voorhees, 5-0.

In regular-season play, PHS shut out Nottingham, 5-0. In singles play, Ellis, Stig Leschly and Bruce Goodman swept to easy wins, losing a total of two games.

PHS is the defending all-group public school state champion.

HOPEWELL ROUTS PHS

In Softball, 21-6. Hopewell Valley clinched a tie for the Valley Division title Monday when it scored 11 runs in the first inning and went on to rout the Princeton High softball team, 21-6.

PHS scored all its runs in the first three innings. Annie Heard, Wanda Heard, Jenny Allen and Tracey Hemingway all rapped doubles for the Little Tigers. Hopewell (13-5-1) collected 12 hits, including two doubles and a triple by Terri Smith, and benefited from nine PHS errors.

PHS had six hits in slipping to its 11th loss in 16 games. PHS will end its season Thursday against West Windsor.

END OF A STREAK

Sweet Jersey Corn Loses. One of the great softball records in Mercer County if not the entire state, came to an end last week when the Sweet Jersey Corn women's softball team lost its first Mercer County Women's A League game in nearly three years to Grove Plumbing, 5-2.

The last time SJC had lost a league game was in July, 1982. Since then, the Princeton-based team had won 60 league games in a row and two consecutive USSA state championships. It had not lost a game at Mercer County Park in 69 contests.

Playing without the services of three starting players, the Cornsters gave up three runs in the top of the first on two hits and an uncharacteristic three errors.

SJC got two runs back in the bottom of the same inning, combining two walks and hits by Beth Ault, Clare Baxter and Dee Vertucci. That, however, was all the offense the Corn was able to generate in the game.

The Corn threatened in the bottom of the fourth but a great shoestring catch by the Grove centerfielder, who then threw to first to double up a baserunner, snuffed out the attempt. Grove went on to add insurance runs in the fifth and seventh innings.

The victors had 11 hits and did not commit an error. The upset, combined with an earlier upset of 3 Seasons, placed Grove on top in the standings with a 5-0 record. SJC is a game behind at 4-1 while 3 Seasons is 3-2.

Earlier in the week, after three opening wins, SJC blanked Larry's Corner Tavern, 9-0 behind the hitting of Vertucc (3-for-3) and Cindy Lombard.. Baxter was the winning pitcher.

This week, SJC will appose Miller Beer on Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at Mercer County Park's Field 2.

Good Season Expected. Despite the loss to Grove Plumbing, Corn manager Steve Cohen expects another good season as he has most of his players returning. Last season's league MVP, Clare Baxter, will once again handle the pitching, and Mercer County Community College's softball captain, Grace Durland, will be the catcher. Beth Ault will be at second, Sandi Hibbs at third, and Doreen Ragazza at shortstop. Veteran Debbie Smyth will be back in left center field, where she will be joined in the outfield by a trio of talented rookies. Last year's left fielder, Donna Nicholson, is out for the season with a knee injury and will become a member of the coaching staff, joining Cohen, Bob Smyth and Rob Hibbs. Cindy Lombardo, West Windsor-Plainsboro High School's three-sport athlete (who will attend Princeton University in the fall), will be in left field, Mercer County College's Joanne Zala, also a three-sport athlete, will play right center field, and Laura Johnson will be in right. Dee Discavage is soon to be a mother, and rookie Andrea Loretangeli will fill in at first base for her this year. Veteran Dee Vertucci will help out in the infield, Dot Krumpfer will fill in in the outfield, and Louann Slocum-Robidoux will assist with the pitching. Cheryl Silva will lend a hand in the early part of the season, until the Mercer County College softball season is over, and Durland and Zola join the club.

DEDICATING FAMILYBORN: Ashley Montague, right, spoke at the dedication of the Mildred Morgan Center for Birth and Women's Health last week. Mrs. Montague is at the far left, next to Marcy Kahn and Anne Morgan Battle, co-directors of Familyborn. Arthur Morgan, Anne's father, is at the rear. The Center was named for his wife, Anne's mother.

Recipients of the awards from Princeton High School and the colleges they will attend include Tika Madden, University of Maryland; Dorothy Mann, Washington University School of Architecture; Tracy Collins, Swarthmore; and Julia Kyle, Princeton University.

Winners from the Stuart Country Day School are Alice Brundage, New York University; Michelle Minus, University of Pennsylvania; Aino Ettinger, Johns Hopkins; and Michelle Cook, Princeton University.

Scholarship committee members are Martha Hartmann and Fannie Floyd, co-chairmen; Betty Chenickek, Rita Ludlum, Del Stifel, and Mollie Updike.

TAX INCENTIVES TOPIC

Of Historic Society Talk. Connie Greiff, preservation consultant, will be the second speaker in the Historical Society's series of noontime talks marking the celebration of Preservation Month 1985.

The talk will take place at Bainbridge House from noon to 1 p.m. on Thursday. Brown bag lunches are welcome. Mrs. Greiff's presentation is titled "Tax Incentives for Rehabilitating Income Properties" and is free and open to the public.

Despite the cutback in federal subsidies for preservation activities, tax incentives are still available as a source of support for the rehabilitation of commercial or rental residential income producing properties. Mrs. Greiff will describe what these incentives are and what conditions must be met in order to take advantage of them.

This series of preservation talks will conclude on Thursday, May 30 with Borough Mayor Barbara Sigmund's presentation concerning Princeton's new preservation ordinance and its implications for individual property owners. For more information call 921-6748.

OUDOOR ADVENTURE

For Teenagers. The YMCA will offer a 12-day adventure camp for 13-15 year olds, as well as three summer weekends devoted to learning outdoor skills. Both programs are under the direction of outdoorsman and environmentalist Warren P. Elmer III.

The adventure camp, scheduled for August 5-16, will feature hiking, climbing, and canoeing along the Appalachian Trail, in the Kittatinny Mountains and the Delaware, and on the upper Delaware River. The group of 10 teenagers will be supervised by two experienced leaders and supported by a course director in a mobile van. Campers must provide or rent their own packs and sleeping bags. The cost of $450 includes food, transportation and group equipment.

In addition, the YWCA will offer three summer weekends devoted to learning backpacking, climbing and canoeing skills at various sites in northwest New Jersey. The backpack weekend, July 13-14, for 12-15 year olds will include two days and a night with two experienced leaders hiking the Appalachian Trail. Basic camping, backpacking and wilderness skills will be stressed, including cooking, minimum-impact camping, natural history, map and compass and safety.

A climbing weekend, also for 12-15 year olds, will be held July 20-21 in the Kittatiny Mountains near the Delaware Water Gap. The weekend will include work on climbing technique, equipment, knots, ropes and safety. Top rope climbing will be led by competent climbing instructors, and camping will be in the Water Gap or at Camp Mason.

A canoeing weekend for beginners, age 10-12, will be offered August 10-11. Saturday will be spent on a lake near Camp Mason, and Sunday will be a full-day trip down the Delaware River. Leaders are experienced canoeists and have water safety certification.

The cost for each weekend is $85 per camper and includes food, transportation and group equipment, such as canoes or climbing gear.

For information, call the YMCA at 924-4497, or Mr. Elmer at Cradlerock Outdoor Network, 924-2919.
